BRITISH AND FRENCH GUARD INDIES AGAINST JAP COUP

SHANGHAI, April 18 (AP)—British and French forces in the Far East were making ready today for any eventuality—including the chance of a Japanese attempt to seize the Dutch East Indies in event of a German invasion of the Netherlands.

Authorities of the American fleet in Asiatic waters joined the Allies in the comment that such action by Japan is a "serious possibility."

Tokyo spokesmen, however, insisted today that Japan has no territorial designs against the Dutch empire and that the Japanese view coincides with that expressed by United States Secretary of State Hull.

The secretary declared, in part, that any alteration in the status of the Dutch East Indies "would be prejudicial to the cause of stability, peace and security . . . in the entire Pacific area."

A neutral naval observer in Shanghai declared that a thrust by Japan into the Dutch East Indies would result in Japan's entering the war on the side of Germany.

"If the Japanese decide that the probabilities favor their success they may occupy the islands, using the same excuse as Adolf Hitler used in Denmark and Norway," this observer said, referring to the German explanation that the Scandinavian countries were invaded for their own "protection."

"If Japan could be certain that Russia would not jump on her back, it is highly possible that the Japanese would act," he said.

SOURCES OF SUPPLY

Naval officials said several factors favor the possibility of a lightning Japanese stroke to parallel any German drive into The Netherlands.

First, they contended, it is Japan's "unconcealed ambition" to gain control of the East Indies' oil, rubber and tin supplies to achieve independence of other sources of supply.

"If the East Indies could be grabbed in a swift, successful stroke, Japan's dream of dominating the western Pacific and the ousting of European colonial powers would be well on the way

BIG DRIVE SEEN NEAR IN NORWAY

STOCKHOLM, April 18 (INS)—Reports reaching here today indicated that a major land battle between German and British forces may be imminent in the Trondheim region.

British forces were said to have landed at several strategic points near the port, and "lively" German activities was reported there today.

Large numbers of German troops have been transported to Trondheim in three-motored transport planes to reinforce the Nazi legions already in control of the city, these advices said.

In addition, 400 Germans were reported to have landed about six miles from the stategically important port of Namsos, north of Trondheim, having been transported there by planes which alighted on the ice.

BRITISH POURING IN

Informed quarters in Stockholm contended that Germany's footholds along the west coast of Norway are precarious.

They added that British troops

Bremen Sunk With 15,000? Berlin Insists Big Liner Safe

By ROBERT G. NIXON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 18—Coincident with claims by a rescued Norwegian seaman that the German luxury liner Bremen was sunk off Norway with 15,000 Nazi troops aboard, the British air ministry today announced a series of slashing new attacks on Stavanger and other points along the Norwegian coast.

(The Bremen "is lying safely in a German harbor," authoritative German quarters in Berlin stated. The vessel was not used as a troop transport in Scandinavian waters, it was said there.)

The Bremen story, which lacked official confirmation here, was told by a Norwegian sailor named Rydningen, a survivor of the British steamer Stancliffe which was torpedoed off the Scottish coast on Friday. The British admiralty said it had no information.

POCKET SHIP AGROUND?

The same was true of a Stockholm report that the Nazi pocket battleship Luetzow, formerly the Deutschland, had gone aground on the Norwegian coast.

The Bremen story, wholly lacking confirmation in British circles, was told by Engvard J. Rydningen, a Norwegian sailor, survivor of the British steamer Stancliffe which was torpedoed off the Scottish coast Friday.

Rydningen said he was taken aboard the Nazi submarine for questioning, as he was the only survivor who spoke German. He said he conversed with the U-boat commander who, in reply to Rydningen's protest over the sinking stated:

"The British sank one of our troopships."

The sailor insisted this meant the Bremen had been sunk. He said the captain's body had been recovered and a telegram was found in his pocket saying his vessel had arrived safely in a Norwegian port.

DOUBT HIS STORY

This telegram was dispatched to Germany by Norwegian authorities in order to mislead the Nazis, Rydningen declared.

Authoritative British circles expressed belief Rydningen probably was repeating hearsay, since several reports of the Bremen's sinking have been current for more than a week, emanating from varied sources, but never officially confirmed.

Stravanger, already bombarded by heavy naval guns and previously attacked by the air force, was again singled out for destruction in the belief Adolf Hitler planned to use it as a jumping-off place for blistering raids on England.

Three British planes failed to return from the new onslaughts, an air ministry communique said. But many German airplanes were said to have been struck on the ground or in the air and a German submarine hit. Extensive damage

ITALY WAR FEVER COOLING; DUCE BLUFFS, LONDON TOLD

LONDON, April 18—Chances of Italy entering the war on Germany's side are 40-60 instead of 50-50 as they were a few days ago, despite Britain's sharp warning to Premier Mussolini to "behave" if he wants to preserve his neutrality, informed diplomatic quarters said today.

The British are under no illusions, however, it was said. Realizing that "anything can happen" they are prepared for all eventualities.

The warning to Italy, delivered by Minister of Economic Warfare Ronald Hibbert Cross at Sheffield last night, had the full approval of Prime Minister Chamberlain's government, it was said.

Official quarters, however, insisted it should not be regarded as a demarche or protest, but rather as "a common-sense bewilderment" over Italy's intentions.

Hope was expressed that nothing would occur to disturb the presently more optimistic outlook.

SAYS IT'S NOT WAR

An Italian diplomat here, commenting on recent signs of growing hostility in Italy toward the British-French allies, has told a leader

HERE I AM, MAMA

JOE RICHIEL, 4, OF SOUTH BOSTON
Mother Finds Boy . . . Lost 24 Hours

Happy Mother Finds Boy, 4, Lost All Night

Found by police and listed as a "mystery boy" for 24 hours through what appeared to be an amazing series of official blunders, 4-year-old Joey Richiel of Dorchester st., South Boston, was finally claimed today by his distraught and almost hysterical young mother.

She is Mrs. Mary Richiel, 22, wife of Alexander Richiel, Shawmut ave., South End, drug company employe.

Haggard from a sleepless night, most of which she and her husband spent searching South Boston streets and beaches for their missing son, she tearfully swept the lost boy into her arms at the home of Parker at., Roxbury, of the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

HAPPY WITH MOTHER

Fair-haired, blue-eyed, smiling boy had been cheerfully making himself undisputed boss of the institution.

He was entertaining newspaper visitors when his mother, blonde and blue-eyed like himself, came hurrying eagerly through the big front door.

For a long minute, she and Joey stood and looked at each other.

"Oh—you!" the mother said with mock security while she tried to fight back happy tears.

Joey pretended to hang his head, but peeked mischievously up through the corners of his big, wide eyes.

Then a second later, he was being hugged within an inch of his life and almost smothered with kisses.

PROUD OF NEW TOGS

Joey was glad to see his mother. There wasn't any doubt about that. But it was plain he disapproved of all the fuss and excitement.

As soon as he could, he wriggled free of his mother's arms and stood away so he could show her his new clothes, given him by the M. S. P. C. C. matron while his own were being mended and laundered.

Young Mrs. Richiel then found time to tell a Boston Evening American reporter her amazing story of having reported Joey's disappearance at 1:30 p. m. yesterday to the Athens st., South Boston, police station, then having been put off again and again with advice to "be patient," while her son was actually at the Dorchester police station, only a mile or two away.

PHONES TO POLICE

"Joey went out to play while I was getting dinner yesterday noon," the mother said. "When he didn't come in to eat, I went to look for him. I hunted everywhere and got terribly frightened when I couldn't find him.

"Right away, I telephoned Station 6, the Athens st. station, which is nearest our home.

"I talked with some sergeant, but I didn't catch his name. I gave him a complete description of Joey and the clothes he was wearing and everything.

"The sergeant said, 'Don't be worried. He'll turn up safe and sound.'

"MUST BE PATIENT"

"I telephoned the station again in an hour or so. They told me Joey hadn't been found, but for me to be patient.

"At 5 o'clock, I was almost crazy. I went to the Athens st. station and begged the sergeant on the desk to do something.

"He said everything possible was being done. And he said again I must be patient.

"My husband had gone bowling after work and I couldn't

Swiss Call 60,000 More Men to Colors

BERNE, April 18 (AP)—The Swiss Federal Council, after conferring with Gen. Henri Guisan, commander-in-chief of the nation's defense forces, today called out an additional 60,000 militia troops.

The order is designed to bring Switzerland's forces close to 500,000 men by midsummer.

FAMED UPSIDE-DOWN GIRL ON HER HONEYMOON AT 15

Alyce Jane McHenry, who dared death in 1935 at Fall River in the famous upside-down stomach operation, was honeymooning today in Chicago.

Now 15 and well, the girl who dared death to win back health was disclosed as the bride of William Kern Byle, 23, son of a Ft. Myers, Fla., doctor, and former student at Northwestern University.

Alyce revealed they had eloped March 22 to St. Charles, Mo., after a romance which started while Byle was working as bellhop in a Chicago hotel.

"Marriage for me seems to be the one thing that will keep me on an even keel," the girl who was the marvel of medical science said.

POPULAR BELLHOP

A more detailed story of the romance was obtained from Hal Moore, a popular bellhop. Moore said:

"Byle was the most handsome

Kid McCoy Found Dead in Hotel Room

DETROIT, April 18 (AP)—Norman Selby, the Kid McCoy of the prize ring, was found dead today in a downtown hotel. Deputy Coroner Lyle C. Ling said McCoy had taken an overdose of sleeping medicine.

Kid McCoy

Kid McCoy claimed the world middleweight title early in the century after he defeated Tommy Ryan. He had fought all over the world, including South Africa.

Born in Moscow, Ind., and married nine times, McCoy was 66 at his death. In recent years he was employed by the service department of the Ford Motor Company.

MAINE TREASURER REFUSES TO QUIT

AUGUSTA, Me., April 18—State Treasurer Belmont A. Smith balked today over resignation demands by Gov. Lewis O. Barrows as the latter announced that an auditor's report boosted to $72,000 the shortages attributed to "manipulations" of former Controller William A. Runnells.

The treasury official refused to quit as had his superior, Finance Commissioner William S. Owen, 70. Smith stated he had no knowledge that his department had cashed inter-departmental checks for $37,000.16 and turned the proceeds over to Runnells.

FOUR ALREADY OUT

Owen, who said he was accepting responsibility for "misplaced confidence" in Runnells, was the fourth state officer to resign since the first report by the auditing firm of Ernst and Ernst disclosed a $35,000 shortage in highway garage accounts.

First, Runnells relinquished his post and sent $26,420 back to the state before an embezzlement warrant was issued against him. Then Barrows asked and got the resignations of State Auditor Elbert D. Hayford and Deputy Treasurer Louis H. Winship for "inefficiency."

It was Winship, Barrows said, who cashed for Runnells between July, 1937 and March, 1940, the checks for $37,000.61. The proceeds, the audit report stated, have not been accounted for.

"We have in preparation," the report added, "a similar exhibit of checks of a like character," going back to Jan. 1, 1932, when Runnells took office.

ACTED ON ORDERS

Owen, who under the administrative code had supervision of both Runnells' and Smith's bureaus, said he had been "told" to employ the former.

"As you know," he said in his resignation, "the practice has been ever since to consult Mr. Runnells in all matters of state finance and I, together with all other state officials, believed him to be a most competent, valuable and trustworthy employe."

Runnells, 45-year-old bachelor, is recovering from bullet wounds he said were self-inflicted by accident.

Dwarf, Theater Man Held as Girl Lurers

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—A middle-aged dwarf and a theatrical manager appeared in the police lineup here charged with luring Brooklyn high school girls to midtown hotels on the promise of getting them modelling or stage jobs.

The four-foot dwarf, Jerry Austin, owner of a photograph studio, was not questioned because he had made a statement to the district attorney's office. The other man, Jack Roberts, alias Gimpy, 59, who has a police record, denied the charge.

Asks Co-operation In Beano Probe

In a letter to Mayor Tobin today, City Councilor Perlie Dyar Chase of Back Bay proposed that the Boston Finance Commission cooperate with the mayor's three-man committee named to study the possibility of licensing the game of beano.

Chase pointed out that the mayor's committee, headed by Police Commissioner Timilty, lacks the power to call witnesses and place them under oath. Chase favored the study.

Demands 3811 Repay State Jobless Cash

Demanding that 3811 individuals who accepted unemployment compensation in the Lawrence area while working, either pay back the money or face prosecution, State Director Robert E. Marshall today said all of the divisions throughout the state will be audited.

Marshall reported that 1785 additional cases bear indications of illegal acceptance om compensation funds.

The total funds involved in the Lawrence cases were placed at $81,663 by Marshall. He said a supervisor, five examiners and two clerks were pushing the probe of the Lawrence situation.

DEMANDS REPAYMENT

Marshall in his order demanding repayment of the funds said that if the state is not reimbursed the matter will be turned over to the State Police for action.

If the State Police find evidence of criminal intent, prosecution will follow immediately, he said.

Notices carrying the demand of Marshall are being mailed to the 3811 individuals whom the division alleges drew unemployment funds while working.

PROBE 5576 CASES

Marshall in commenting on the condition found in the Lawrence area said that it would result in examination of the boks of all the various offices of the UCC throughout the state.

The alleged payment of money to those employed it was indicated was uncovered by comparison of Social Security records and study of payroll sheets of various employers in the Lawrence area.

Altogether the number of cases the UCC has decided are illegal and those indicated illegal total 5575.

Langone Waits Curley Move

State Sen. Joseph A. Langone who is serving his fourth term on Beacon Hill will await the political intentions of former Gov. James M. Curley before announcing his own.

He made this statement to about 5000 friends at a dinner at the Boston Garden last night at which he and Mrs. Langone were guests of honor. Friends indicated that Langone may make another race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Sen. Langone heard tributes from Curley, Mayor Tobin, Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever and others. He said he would always be with Curley and Dever for whatever offices they might seek.

$9000 in Lincoln Etchings Stolen

LIME ROCK, Ct., April 18 (AP)—Dr. Bernhardt Wall, the noted etcher, informed police today that 258 Copper plates comprising a considerable part of his pictorial biography of Abraham Lincoln had been stolen from his home here during the winter while he was in Florida.

Dr. Wall placed his monetary loss at more than $9000. He said it would take him from two to three years to etch new plates. The stolen work had not been published.

Judge Lane Rites To Be Held Saturday

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Associate Judge Patrick J. Lane of the East Boston court, who died at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Suffering from poor health for a year, Judge Lane returned recently from Florida.

John C. Cort, administrator of the Massachusetts Milk Control Board, announced today a public hearing would be held at the State House April 23 on the question of reducing the price of milk in the Greater Boston market

Lifer Quits Prison, Deported to Canada

His pale face showing a grin that wouldn't come off, Louis P. Mercier, 40, walked out of Charlestown State Prison today and lifted his head to the rain-wet air.

He was—practically—a free man, the life sentence that had been imposed on him in a Berkshire county courtroom on Dec. 13, 1924, for the second degree murder of his wife, having recently been commuted by the state board of pardons.

Immigration officials had ordered him deported to Canada.

No longer was Mercier the dapper, black-eyed, black-haired Valentino whose trial 16 years ago was front-page news across the country.

WAITS CANADA TRAIN

No longer was he the slim boy father of 24 years, whose presence had packed the Pittsfield court with avid, curious girls day after day.

Now steel-rimmed glasses hid his eyes; his once-patent deather hair was gray and thin.

But he smiled.

In 1924 the youthful father of four babies, he was convicted on circumstantial evidence of killing his girl wife with poison stolen from a manufacturing plant where he worked.

"It was all circumstantial evidence," he insisted today as he waited in the North Station with Immigration Inspector Franklin K. Riley for a Canada-bound train.

NOW A MACHINIST

"Though I was a baker in prison, I'm a machinist by trade and I expect to go to work in Canada.

"I'll behave myself, and some day I'd like to come back to America. This is a fine country."

He will meet his four children, the youngest now 18, at Sherbrooke, where Inspector Riley will leave him.

"I want to thank Gov. Saltonstall and Warden Francis J. W. Lanagan," Mercier declared.

"Good-bye," Mercier called, still grinning widely, "good-bye."

Walsh Brother Seeks to Retire

William J. Walsh, 69, of 43 Hopedale st., Brighton, brother of U. S. Sen. David I. Walsh, has applied for retirement as a city of Boston messenger, it was learned today at City Hall.

Walsh has been attached to the council as a messenger since January, 1926, following his retirement as a member of the Boston City Council.

For four years prior to his employment as a city messenger Walsh had been a member of the council, which at that time was composed of nine members elected at large.

LOGAN'S WIDOW WINS PLEA

After a verbal battle between opposing counsel, Judge William M. Prest in Suffolk Probate Court today gave Mrs. Cecelia F. Logan, widow of the late Judge Edward L. Logan, permission to sell 250 shares of stock of par value of $25,000 for $1250.

Mrs. Logan, who is executrix of her husband's estate, will sell the stock of the Boston Beer Co. in private sale to a friend.

BOOK VALUE $16,250

Former corporation counsel for the city of Boston, Henry E. Foley, representing the closedo Bancroft Trust Co. of Worcester, which has a claim of $7500 against the estate on an unpaid note, objected.

"The book value of that stock now is $16,250," Foley said. "Sell in it to a friend!"

"Only a friend would buy it!" snapped Atty. John R. Kewer, counsel for Mrs. Logan. "You get a buyer for it who'll pay $6 a share and I'll give it to you!"

"I don't think it's up to me to find a buyer!" Foley retorted.

Judge Prest interrupted.

"I think it is up to you," he said to Foley, "since you're the one who's objecting."

JUDGE WEIGHS RULING

Then Michael F. Phelan, who endorsed the Logan note when it was borrowed from the then-closed Bancroft bank in 1934, pointed out that the statute of limitations on the note will be up this August, and he may then be sued for payment himself.

Phelan, now chairman of the State Labor Relations board, therefore filed a petition asking that the court direct Mrs. Logan set aside enough money to protect him against liability.

Judge Prest took his petition under advisement.

Find Oxygen Relieves Pain In Heart Disease Cases

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP)—Use of a newly-developed oxygen mask has resulted in the discovery that inhalation of oxygen in high concentrations produces "dramatic" abatement of intense heart pain.

Oxygen in proportions ranging from 80 to 100 per cent gave complete relief from pain in severe cases in which large doses of narcotics and sedatives—the usual treatment—failed.

Continued success with the strong oxygen treatment would give physicians a powerful weapon to combat two of the most painful and serious diseases—coronary thrombosis, a blocked artery, and severe angina pectoris, an acute "chest pang" due to spasm of the systemic arteries.

A report telling on striking benefits obtained by this method was made today in the journal of the American Medical Ass'n by Dr. Edward W. Boland of Los Angeles, who is associated with S. Vincent's Hospital and the University of Southern California School of Medicine.

Doctors have known for years that oxygen supports the functions of the heart and the respiratory systems, but the action of pure oxygen, or at least 80 per cent concentration, is something new in medicine.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Flooded Cellar Victim Recovers

BROCKTON, April 18—Snatched from death in a flooded cellar excavation, three-year-old Ira L. Lipman was reported recovering today at his home in Morse ave.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack N. Lipman, fell into two feet of water as he attempted to retrieve a ball. A playmate, Richard L. Rosen, ran a quarter mile to summon his mother, Mary, who pulled the unconscious child to safety.

Richard Mooney, a truck driver, heard Mrs. Rosen's cries for help and took the child to Goddard Hospital, where he was treated for immersion and later permitted to go home.

Crash Reveals They're Wed

If a Brockton-bound train had not crashed into her car at a South Braintree crossing and her husband, who witnessed the accident, had not fainted, the marriage last fall of pretty Mary McDowell, 26, of Braintree and Alvin P. Arthur would still be a secret today.

But the secret was bared as Mrs. Arthur, driving from the Armstrong Cork Co., where her husband is employed, was slightly injured when the train demolished her car and tossed the wreckage onto the northbound track at Hancock st.

Arthur ran to extricate his wife from the wreck and collapsed as he was riding with her in a police ambulance to the South Weymouth Hospital. When he had been revived both admitted the secret wedding.

Left $11,000 By Beggar She Aided

DETROIT, April 18 (AP) — A woman who befriended a beggar injured in an alley fight six years ago today was notified he had died and left her $11,000.

The woman is Mrs. Aubert Thrasher, 44, a practical nurse with eight children. She was astonished by the news and had difficulty recalling the incident.

"She did me a good turn years ago," wrote Nathan Kanover, the beggar, in a crude printed style.

No less amazed by the strange will was Probate Judge Thomas C. Murphy, who was designated to receive $2000, presumably as consideration for seeing that the Thrasher bequest is carried out.

Judge Murphy said investigation showed that Kanover left $13,002 in postal and bank savings. No other will was found and apparently there are no relatives. A public administrator is handling the estate.

Mrs. Thrasher said Kanover was injured in a fight near her home in 1934. She bathed and treated his wounds. He wrote her name in an address book and said he would one day repay her kindness.

She paid little attention to the remark.

Paint Ile de France In Gray Camouflage

NEW YORK, April 18 (INS)—Painters were blotting out the white superstructure of the Ile De France, now tied up in New York harbor, with dark gray camouflage, leading to reports the pride of the French merchant marine would soon join the Queen Mary and the Mauretania in war-time service.

An official BBC broadcast heard by the NBC short wave station today reported that the Ile De France "shortly will follow the Queen Mary in service."

Puts Head in Zipper Bag, Dies by Fumes

FITCHBURG, April 18 (AP)—His head enclosed in a zipper traveling bag into which a tube from a gas jet had been inserted, the body of L. E. Mattson, about 50, was found today in a rooming house.

Police Captain William J. Morris said the man was a suicide.

Ex-Sheriff On Stand in Extort Case

TAUNTON, April 18—Charged with extorting weekly payments from Charles Pittle, New Bedford operator of pin ball and horse racing machines, under threat of driving him from business, former Deputy Sheriff Joseph L. Millette of New Bedford took the stand in his own defense at his trial today.

Lorenzo Audette, New Bedford lunch room proprietor, told the court he turned over protection money on three occasions to Patrolman Dave C. Poirieu. Audette testified that he had a horse racing slot machine in his lunchroom.

A defense witness, Audette fixed the incident in 1937, relating that Pittle accepted half the proceeds of the racing machine and put money in an envelope which he told the witness to give to the policeman on the beat.

"What is the name of that policeman?" asked Atty. James Meagher, counsel for Millette.

"Dave C. Poirieu of Station 5," answered the witness. "I gave the envelopes to him three times, until he finally told me he would go and get it himself."

Pittle is under indictment on a perjury charge.

Russell Aides Meet New Ban

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—State Supreme Court Justice John McGeehan entered here his final order barring Bertrand Russell, the British Earl, from teaching philosophy in City College on the finding that such an appointment would be to create a "chair of indecency."

Meanwhile, members of the board of higher education—who want to appeal the justice's decision but have been refused the services of the city's corporation counsel—arranged a late afternoon meeting with Mayor LaGuardia, who said he would back up the corporation counsel's refusal to proceed further.

Girl Mite Baby Wins Life Chance

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 18 (AP)—Physicians at St. Anthony's Hospital here reported today that a baby girl which weighed only 30 ounces at birth, six days ago, has gained 12½ ounces and now has every chance to live.

The baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Haynes. Sister Clementilla, hospital superintendent, said the infant was born three months prematurely. Hospital authorities said the baby would have to remain in an incubator for several weeks.

Held in $2000 Bail After Fatal Quarrel

WEBSTER, April 18—Henry Forand, 25, of Dudley, was free in $2000 bail today after a preliminary hearing in Southbridge district court on charges of assault and battery and manslaughter.

Police charge Forand, bakery truck driver, quarreled with Charles Orzech, 55-year-old WPA worker, causing the death of the latter in French river. The victim fell from a bridge railing and was drowned.

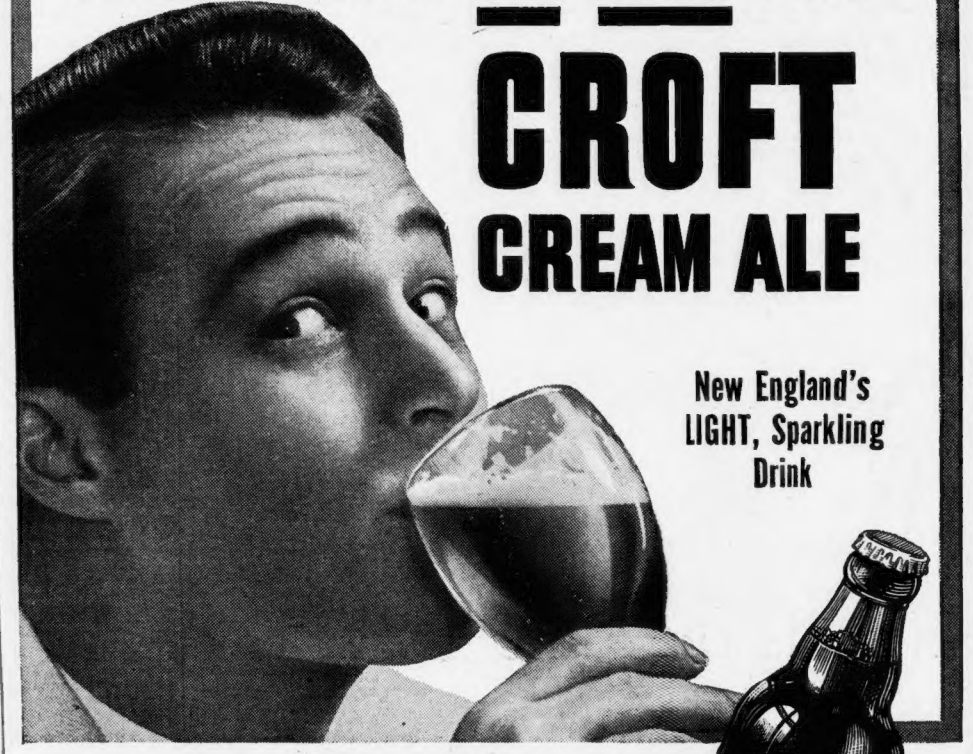
ALL HAIL THE ALL MALT ALE!
CROFT CREAM ALE
New England's LIGHT, Sparkling Drink



IF YOU'VE ever enjoyed a glass of ale try Croft Cream Ale. Is there a difference? You bet your bottom dime there is!

For Croft Cream Ale is all malt. No other cereals are used in even the smallest quantities. It's brewed like the fine imported beers and Canadian ales.

That's the reason Croft Cream Ale has such a superbly delightful flavor — such a refreshingly light body. That's why Croft Cream Ale is so popular in New England.

It takes more than words to tell of that sparkling, zestful clarity and tempting tang. But it takes only a taste to convince you — Croft Cream Ale . . . the all malt ale . . . is your idea of real ale perfection. Try some — in bottles, cans and steinies at package stores — and on draught at your favorite bars and restaurants!

For a darker, sturdy ale from a different formula—try CROFT RED LABEL

"ONE OF AMERICA'S LARGEST CLOTHING CHAINS"

Stage Set for Gala Patriots' Day Fete

The stage is set for the biggest Patriots' Day celebration in many years, commemorating tomorrow the 165th anniversary of the firing by embattled American revolutionists of the "shot heard 'round the world."

Chief centers of the celebrations will be Concord and Lexington, where patriots died for their cause as they slaughtered British invaders.

But six other historic points connected with the rides of Paul Revere and William Dawes will mark the day with parades and all-day programs. Towns and cities were already gay with flags and bunting today.

Governor Saltonstall will speak at both Concord and Lexington. Flag raisings, parades, patriotic meetings, band concerts and other activities are scheduled in Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Somerville, Medford and Arlington.

STORES OPEN

In Boston, it was announced, most stores will remain open for business but the banks will be closed. At 7:45 tonight Miss Mary Louise Auerhamer, great-great-great granddaughter of Paul Revere, will carry lanterns into the steeple of the Old North Church, commemorating the warning signal of the patriots which started her ancester on his famous ride.

Accompanied by a detail from the 110th Cavalry, Sergt. George J. Mailly of that unit will re-enact the Revere ride tomorrow and Sergt. Melvin S. Welsh will personify William Dawes.

They will start from North sq., North End, and Eliot sq., Roxbury, respectively. Mayor Tobin will speak at the North sq. ceremony and Institutions Commisioner Hugh J. Campbell will talk at Eliot sq. The Mayor also will raise the flag at Boston City Hall at 9 a. m.

RING CHURCH BELLS

Lexington will greet the day at dawn with the ringing of church bells, and later the usual flag-raising and parade will be held on the battle green. A 21-gun salute by the Independent Battery will boom and bells ring at sunrise in Concord.

Whistles will blow in Cambridge at 8 a. m. and the parade will start at Lafayette sq. at 9:45. Brookline's parade starts at 9:15 in Washington st. Medford and Somerville and Arlington exercises will begin at 9.

Meanwhile, thousands will assemble to watch the annual B. A. A. marathon from Hopkinton to Boston, scheduled to start at noon.

Doctors Free Youth From Cleaner Gear

Arthur Seeley, Jr., 15, of Bowditch rd., Jamaica Plain, today nursed a fractured finger after causing doctors at City Hospital to turn mechanics.

Seeley was taken to the hospital, along with a vacuum cleaner in which his hand had been enmeshed. The youth had been fixing the machine when his hand caught in the mechanism.

RELEASE SECT FAMILY IN DEATH OF FIVE KIN

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn., April 18 (INS)—Seven members of the Holiness or Church of God sect, accused of involuntary manslaughter in the deaths of five of their relatives, today went placidly back to their rude homes in the blackhills of Sim's Ridge, free of the law till next September and possibly altogether.

Believers in faith healing, the defendants, four men and three women, were charged with responsibility for the deaths of one woman and four children because medical aid was refused.

Firm in their belief they did right to bar physicians from their homes, they came to court today with no lawyers to represent them. The silvery haired circuit judge, W. B. Turner, was non-plussed momentarily, then named two attorneys to handle their cases, saying:

"Try to get them ready by the September term of court."

There was a suspicion the cases might never be revived for the district attorney, Claud L. Boyd, has said:

"The whole state is sick of this publicity. We don't want another Scopes trial here."

Business is Good, Thanks—so you'll find a swell deal waiting for you at your Buick dealer's

Above is the Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan $896

WE'RE talking here to those thousands who have not yet achieved a lifetime ambition. That is to say, they don't yet own a Buick.

We want to point out a few facts about the Buick SPECIAL pictured here—show how it swings wide the door on a golden opportunity.

Step into this sleek sweetheart. Your treadle foot touches off a trigger-quick Dynaflash straight-eight engine that's just about the smoothest thing that runs, thanks to micro-poised-balancing after assembly.

Swing through the gear changes and you find the same easy, finger-flick shifting as in the most costly Buick. And the same recoil-mounted Knee-Action soaking up bumps before they reach your hand on the steering wheel.

Take a rough road in stride. You'll find that stout BuiCoil Springs muffle out the bumps—and they'll never need lubrication.

Look out through the easy-vision Safety Plate Glass in every window. Check up on the equipment: Two-Way Direction Signal with automatic cut-off, built-in automatic choke, high-capacity water pump—they're all there.

Here's the smart style, the blithe performance and the solid, substantial Buick quality that make this the car you've been looking forward to.

And, when you count in the included equipment, the SPECIAL costs no more than some sixes with lower advertised prices.

So look into the Buick SPECIAL and "step up" to the car you've always wanted.

You can take a trial drive any time just by asking your Buick dealer.

Prices begin at $895 for Business Coupe —Sedan prices start at $955—delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.*

6 Dog Track Evaders Of Tax Fined $13,500

Pleas of guilty to income tax evasion charges today brought suspended penitentiary sentences and total fines of $13,500 to six operators at Wonderland and Taunton dog tracks.

The heaviest fine, $5000, was assessed against James J. Egan of Boston, who Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford denounced as a flouter of the laws. Egan was given a suspended sentence of a year and a day and probation for three years.

Former Rep. Martin Hays, of Allston; Louis B. Fox, of Revere; Hyman Abrams, of Revere, and Mario A. Ingraffia, of Cranston, R. I., but formerly of Waban, Mass., were each fined $2000 and given suspended sentences of a year's probation for tax evasions.

Arthur G. Barron of Allston, who also held stock in Wonderland, was fined $500 and given a six month's suspended sentence.

HAVE PAID $62,038

The five Wonderland Park defendants have already paid taxes, penalties and interest aggregating $62,038.87, and Egan had paid the sum of $39,873.22, the court was told by U. S. Atty. Harry M. Leen.

Hays was charged, in two counts, with evasion of $381.8(for 1935 and $4594.69 for 1936. Fox was charged, in two counts, with evasion of $347.62 for 1936 and $6149.10 for 1936. Abrams was charged, in two counts, with evasion of $402.95 for 1935 and $5057.21 for 1936. Barron was charged with evasion of $1046.93 for 1936 and Ingraffia with evasion of $907.75 for 1935.

Egan was charged, in two counts, with attempting to evade and defeat a tax of $1610 77 for 1935 and a tax of $13,677.24 for 1936. He is a former Boston schoolhouse commissioner who, in November, 1934, according to the government, was made president and general manager of the then newly-organized Bristol County Kennel Club, of which the late "Eddie" O'Hare, murdered in Chicago, was operating director.

REVIEWS CASE

In his statement of the facts, Leen said that Fox, Abrams and Ingraffia had been partners in numerous enterprises since 1939, and that prior to the repeal of the Prohibition Act they were "active as bootleggers on a major scale." He said that Barron, a close friend of Abrams, also operated as a bootlegger.

According to Leen, Fox, Abrams and Ingraffia formed the Bay State Greyhound Ass'n, Inc., in 1934, and retained Hays, then a member of the legislature, as counsel.

He said 60 per cent of the stock of the Bay State Greyhound Ass'n, Inc., was allotted to the defendants at the inception of the corporation.

"It was decided, however," he said, "that because of the unfavorable reputation of Fox, Abrams and Ingraffia the stock allotted to them should be held in the names of straws. Fox, Abrams and Ingraffia thereupon furnished Hays with the names of straws. Some of the straw names so furnished were acceptable to Hays, but others were not. Accordingly Hays supplied the names of his relatives, friends, chauffeurs and private secretary as straws for Fox, Abrams and Ingraffia as well as for himself. The defendant Barron also had part of his stockholdings in straw names."

DIVIDEND DECLARED

The prosecutor said that on Nov. 30, 1935, a dividend of $80 per share was declared by the racing association, dividend checks signed by Hays going to the defendants instead of to the straws.

Hays, whose attempt to plead nolo contendre was rejected, was named in the indictments against Fox, Abrams, Barron and Ingraffia as an aider and abettor.

In the case of Egan, the assistant U. S. attorney said the fraud complained of arose from the failure of the defendant to report dividends received from the Bristol County Kennel Club and by claiming false deductions for salaries, compensation and other payments.

He said that at an early meeting of the Kennel Club the directors voted 1 per cent of the total mutuel handle to be used by the defendant "as he should deem for the best interests of the corporation."

Set Sheriff's Hearing On Election Charge

WORCESTER, April 18—Charged with two violations of the corrupt practices act in connection with the town election in Barre, March 4, Joseph H. Higgins, Barre selectman and deputy sheriff, pleaded innocent and was free on his own recognizance today for hearing April 23.

Higgins waived reading of the complaint at his arraignment, which grew out of a private inquest as to alleged irregularities in Barre, held before Judge Frank L. Riley on March 21.

Complainant was Ernest W. Pratt, town moderator and school committeeman of Barre, who was defeated in a contest for selectman by Higgins by 52 votes.

It was specifically charged that Higgins "did cause to be made or published a false statement in relation to a candidate for election to public office, which did tend to injure or defeat said candidate." Also that he "did intentionally distribute or cause to be distributed a circular or poster designed or tending to injure or defeat a candidate for election to public office."

Higgins, as a deputy sheriff, was in the spotlight in 1937 when he found a child who had been lost in the woods at Upton.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., April 18 (AP)—The Ocean County Board of Freeholders accepted "Golf House," the Lakewood estate of the late John D. Rockefeller, Sr., as a gift from the millionaire's son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The board said it would become a park.

Boy Who Just Grew Bests His Science Twin

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Jimmy and Johnny Woods, the behavioristic twins, are 8 years old today and here is an unprofessional report on how they act.

Both spent the first two years of their lives in the normal child development clinic of Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center. One received scientific guidance; the other just grew.

At a birthday eve interview, the following occurred:

Johnny smacked Jimmy's neck and Jimmy countered with a wallop to Johnny's back.

It was disclosed that Johnny has been demoted a full year in school and is now behind Jimmy in his classes.

Jimmy said his marks were about 80; Johnny interposed with "I get a hundred," a remark which Jimmy said made him laugh.

It was Johnny who got all the science and behavior training.

Job Crisis Wins Tax Leniency

Max Kirstein, head of a Peabody tanning company, was on probation today, having been spared a prison term on tax evasion charges after his attorney pleaded in federal court that the entire population of Hartland, Me., would suffer if he were sent to jail.

The attorney, Claude E. Cross, explained that Kirstein also owned a tannery at Hartland which employed 200 persons, virtually the entire working population of the town. He said the weekly payroll was $3000.

Kirstein then was given a $2000 fine on his plea of guilty to evasion of a corporation income tax and sentence of one year was suspended.

Ex-Convict Bandits Start 15-Year Terms

Sad but wiser, two youthful convicts went back to State Prison today to pay back the time they owe on paroles and then to begin from 10 to 15 years for armed robbery, to which they pleaded guilty in Middlesex Superior Court.

A third youth, who pleaded not guilty but was found guilty, was sentenced to serve eight years at Concord Reformatory for the same robbery.

The trio, Malcolm A. Vara, of Malden; Vincent E. Murtha, of Chelsea, and James McCarthy, 23, of Chelsea, on Jan. 6, held up George F. Ayers, manager of a chain store on Grove st., Wakefield, forced him, his aide and a customer into a back room and stole $127.

Vara and Murtha were on parole, Vara released in 1938 from a seven-year term given him in 1933, and Murtha last July from a State Prison term of seven to nine years given him in 1933. Judge Frederick W. Fosdick gave them 10 to 15 years each, to be served after unexpired time of their previous sentences.

McCarthy was found guilty after a swift trial which he interrupted once with the flippant remark that he "might as well plead guilty."

As the guilty verdict was brought in, Judge Fosdick asked the prisoners if they had anything to say. McCarthy declared he wanted to say he didn't do it, "but I suppose 12 men can't be wrong."

"They're not wrong, and you know it," retorted Judge Fosdick, sentencing him to eight years at Concord. He had a previous record of convictions.

F. R. Pinned Down With 'Buddy Poppy'

WASHINGTON, April 18 (INS)—President Roosevelt, upon whom many people have tried to pin many things, had something pinned on him today that he didn't mind a bit.

Betty Jane Van Loon, a little seven-year-old orphan from the Eaton Rapids, Mich., home of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, pinned a "buddy poppy" on the Presidential lapel to begin the 1940 sale of the VFW emblems.

ONE SLAIN IN ESCAPE TRY

LAGRANGE, Ky., April 18 (AP)—One prisoner was shot to death and three others wounded in an attempt to escape from the Kentucky prison farm by thrice ramming a seized truck into an iron-reinforced wire gate.

NEW HAVEN TAX RULE AID TO HUB

Cheering news that Boston may be relieved of $500,000 tax borrowing this year came from Mayor Tobin today in the wake of a decision by the second circuit appeals court in New York, requiring the New Haven railroad to pay its taxes.

As long as the New Haven operates in Massachusetts it must obey state statutes, the court ruled.

The decision came in a suit of mortgage bondholders of the Boston Terminal Co., which operates the South Station, against New Haven trustees for $630,000 in taxes, interest and interest on bonds.

The road had refused to pay for rentals in accordance with a decree of Federal Judge Carroll C Hincks of New Haven.

Decision of Judge Hincks in the terminal case was that after the New Haven had excluded the Old Colony and Providence railroad divisions from its reorganization it was not obligated to pay rental for the South Station. The decision and refusal to pay the $630,000 forced the Terminal Co. into bankruptcy.

The circuit court decision upsetting this verdict compels the New Haven trustees to pay the rentals by reason of decree of the Public Utilities Commission which makes it responsible for 70 percent of costs of the terminal operation. The Boston and Albany pays the remainder.

The decision will also affect tax payments on the Old Colony Division, held up by the New Haven last year, and force payment to towns and cities. The New Haven had apportioned the costs to the Old Colony.

The decision will add $145,000 in 1939 real estate taxes to the city of Boston revenue this year and $16,000 in state taxes for franchise privileges. Bondholders will receive $93,000 interest.

The decision will vitally affect reorganization of the New Haven and probably permit continued operation of the Old Colony division by relieving it of the huge rental costs for the South Station apportioned to it by the New Haven trustees.

Dredging to Close Chelsea St. Bridge

The Chelsea bridge between Chelsea and Charlestown will be closed to all traffic tomorrow from 1 a. m. to 5 a. m. and during the same hours on Saturday morning because of dredging operations it was announced today by Traffic Commissioner William P. Hickey. Motorists will be obliged to use the Sumner Tunnel to and from points to the North Shore.

Granite Co. Auction Brings Only $18,700

MILFORD, April 18—An auction of the quarry, buildings and machinery of the Haskell Pink Milford Granite Co. has netted about $18,700 to satisfy a $111,000 RFC loan made three years ago.

The quarry provided stone for the new Bronx County courthouse, the Roosevelt Memorial building of the Museum of Natural History and other structures in New York.

F. D. SETS RELIEF AT $1,500,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 18 (INS)—President Roosevelt today boosted his estimate of the country's relief needs in the coming fiscal year from less than $1,000,000,000 to $1,500,000,000.

Asserting, in a letter to Speaker Bankhead, that earlier hopes for increased industrial activity had not been realized the President revised his January budget figure by proposing that relief expenditures for fiscal 1941 be maintained at about the same level as the current year.

ASKS AID OF CONGRESS

The President's letter suggested that Congress adhere to his earlier estimate of $975,000,000 for WPA in the coming year but leave him discretionary power to spend the money in the first eight months.

To avoid going over the legal national debt limit of 45,000,000,000 the President expressed the hope at his press conference that Congress would trim $300,000,000 from his budget estimates in order that the debt limit not be exceeded.

This year, far less than any previous year, said the President, government experts are at a loss to predict what may happen in 1941. The only prediction he would offer was that his economists think there will be as much employment in 1941 as in 1940.

Pres. Roosevelt cited production index figures from the federal reserve board to the effect that an all-time high of 128 was reached in December.

OPPOSES CUT AT PRESENT

In January it declined to 115 and to 109 in February. The preliminary index for March showed 105, he continued.

"It is hoped," the message stated, "that it will not go any lower than this."

But, he added:

"There is certainly at the present time, no information available to justify a reduction in the program of the Works Progress Administration . . . "

Sink-At-Sight Warfare in May

LONDON, April 18 (AP)—The British Press Ass'n carried a report today that Germany would launch unrestricted submarine warfare "after May."

A survivor of the torpedoed British steamer Stancliffe was quoted as saying that the commander of the attacking German submarine had told those aboard the Stancliffe that the Germans would "sink every ship at sight and spare nobody after May."

F. R. to Leave For 10-Day Rest

WASHINGTON, April 18 (INS)—President Roosevelt plans to leave tonight for a 10 day rest at Warm Springs, Ga., and soon after Congress adjourns, around June 1, to embark on an extended tour of the country in a move to solidify warring Democratic factions.

This was learned as the White House received word that the ardent New Dealer, Sen. Joseph E. Guffy (R.) of Pennsylvania, faced the fight of his political life in next Tuesday's primaries against Walter F. Jones, Pittsburgh oil man.

Mother Finds Police Had Lost Boy Safe

get him on the telephone. When he finally came home, we telephoned the station house again.

"They said they hadn't heard anything. So my husband and I started to hunt for the boy ourselves. We walked all over South Boston, I guess.

PICTURE IN PAPER

"We went out to City Point and to the other beaches and along the Fort Point channel. We were fearful Joey had been drowned.

"Finally, this morning, I went into a neighborhood grocery store and the storeman showed me Joey's picture in a newspaper.

"This time I telephoned police headquarters. They told me they'd found a boy in Freeport st., Dorchester, yesterday and he was now out here at the M. S. P. C. C. Home.

"I hurried right over here and, of course, the boy was my Joey. It's all been like a nightmare, but I don't care now. I'm not mad at anybody, so long as I've got my Joey safe.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND POLICE

"I can't understand why one police station didn't know what was happening at the other, but that's what you have to put up with in South Boston."

Sergt. Francis M. Burke, on the desk today at the Athens st. police station, said there was no record there of Mrs. Fichiel's telephone calls or visit and no record of any boy reported missing.

He said no report of the lost boy could have been made to police headquarters through the station yesterday, or it would have been on the journal.

No announcement of the boy's being found was received, so far as he knew, he said, and no description of him was received on the teletype after he had been taken to the Dorchester station.

Burke wasn't on duty at the Athens st. station yesterday and "couldn't say" who was, he told the Boston Evening American.

Hunt Peabody Girl, May Have Eloped

PEABODY, April 18 Missing from her home here since Friday, pretty Irene Grant, 20, Tracy st., today was sought by police at the request of her worried mother.

The girl was last seen April 12 at about 8:30 p. m. when she left her home with a dark complexioned man who was driving a maroon colored car.

The mother, Mrs. Florence G. Grant, a widow, told police Irene had been a student nurse at the J. B. Thomas Hospital, Peabody, up to a few months ago.

Mrs. Grant, police reported, could only give a partial description of her daughter's motorist friend. She remembered that he had a scar about one and a half inches long just below his lower lip. This scar, she said, was very noticeable.

When Irene disappeared she was wearing a blue coat with a gray fur collar and a blue, crownless flower hat of latest style.

She is described as of medium build, having light brown hair and light blue eyes, with good teeth and regular features.

The man was said to be of slight build with black hair and dark eyes. He was wearing a reversible overcoat and was hatless.

Police advanced the theory that the girl's disappearance may prove to be an elopement.

Gets War Mail 22 Years Late

Four letters sent him by members of his family when he was in France with the 26th Division in 1918, have been forwarded to Gregory P. Connolly, former commander of the Beverly American Legion Post by five French officers now in active service.

In an accompanying note one of the officers reported finding the letters in a bureau drawer in the home of an elderly woman with whom they are billeted, near Clermont, France.

"I am fulfilling a duty and also a pleasure to send you this correspondence which will bring back to you, perhaps, pleasant memories," wrote the French officer.

Seize Man as Shield In Big Postal Holdup

LITTLE FALLS, N. J., April 18 (AP)—Three men, one armed with a sub-machine gun, seized the Erie Railroad stationmaster today, used him as a shield and robbed two postal employes of funds being transferred from a train to a postal truck.

The money was consigned to the Little Falls National Bank. The amount was not known, but police who first roughly estimated the figure at "several thousand dollars" later said it was about $5000.

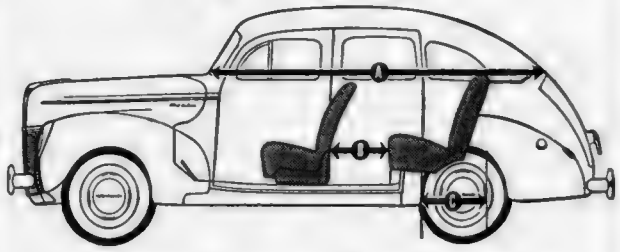
MORE THAN BIG...
it's big in the right places!

Inside the car, where bigness really counts; you find a Ford V-8 extra "big for its size." Big by any measure, it's especially so at the important comfort points shown below. Check them now, then come in and try a Ford. It's got a lot of things like this that are just too good to miss!



A Measured from windshield to rear window, a Ford Sedan is 100¼ inches . . . this is longer than in a number of much higher-priced cars today!

B Kneeroom for rear-seat passengers in a Ford is considerably greater than that of any other car in its price class!

C With its compact V-type engine, the Ford is designed to carry rear-seat passengers farther ahead of the rear spring than any other car at this price—toward the center of the car where riding quality is best!

SURPRISING is the word for a 1940 Ford! Surprising because it gives so much you wouldn't expect at its low price. Surprising all-round performance, as proved when it won the big 3700-mile Argentine Grand Prize Road Race. Surprising gas economy, as proved when it gave most miles per gallon of all standard-equipped cars at its price in the Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run. Surprising in its big-car ride and room. Surprising in its long, long list of truly fine-car features. Come in today and get to know a Ford V-8!

Census a Week Late In Greater Boston

The huge task of taking the 1940 census in 15 days has run into difficulties and it was plain to officials today that tonight's deadline would not be met in the Greater Boston area.

With enumerators running into all sorts of snags in the cities because of absences and the difficulty of obtaining housing data and in the country because of impassable roads, it was indicated that another week would be needed to complete the list.

Patrick J. Murray, area manager for Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex and Middlesex counties, said today that his area will be "several days late."

"While the census bureau realized the magnitude of the task undertaken to poll the population and schedule the housing in 15 days, many factors entered the picture to throw the schedule off," Murray said.

"Our most difficult task," he said, "has been to contact apartment house dwellers in the large cities. Enumerators and squad leaders have returned time after time to many apartments to find residents absent."

Appointment cards have been left, but many persons just ignore them.

Murray said that no court action is contemplated, until he is convinced those who haven't answered are ducking.

Flooded and impassable roads in rural districts, particularly in the Merrimac, Ipswich and Concord river valleys, have greatly impeded collection of the farm census data.

Knife to Decide If Girl, 11, Sees

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 18 (AP)—A surgeon's skilled hands today undertook the second in a series of delicate operations to release Barbara Joyce Davis, 11, from the world of silence and darkness she has known since infancy

The doctor seeks to remove a cataract that obstructs passage of light—and vision—through the eye Several weeks ago, he made a new pupil for the eye and since then the cheerful little girl has been resting in preparation for the new operation.

Barbara was stricken deaf and blind after an attack of spinal meningitis at the age of three Since there was no means of communicating sound to her, she has remained dumb, although doctors say her vocal cords apparently are normal.

Triplets Amaze Dad; Keep Spring Names

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., April 18 (AP)—The amazed father of triplet girls, born prematurely without medical aid, said today he'd probably keep the names nurses had given the babies April, May and June.

John Reed, part-time steel worker, cried out in amazement upon learning his 25-year-old wife had given birth to triplets in the midst of moving into a new two-room cottage.

The babies, weighing eight pounds seven and a half ounces were getting along nicely in hospital incubators where they were taken in a big roasting pan. The mother, also doing well, commented:

"I'm just a little tired." She has two other children.

Not expecting a child for six weeks, Mrs. Reed became ill just after reaching her new home The truck had unloaded furniture at the $100 cottage, but beds hadn't been set up and there was no heat, lights, or clothes for the babies.

The emergency came on one of only two nights a week that Reed works. His wife's 22-year-old brother, Paul Malko, dashed a mile to bring Mrs. Lulu Nye, 43-year-old mother of four children

She turned the kitchen into a delivery room by the light of a flickering oil lamp All three babies arrived within 15 minutes A doctor later reached the scene.

'Strip Tease' Raid Costs Him $100 Fine

NASHUA, N. H., April 18—As an aftermath of a raid on a "strip-tease" show in Pelham Inn, Pelham, where an audience of 65 men was arrested, George Harris, reputed proprietor of the inn, was fined $100 and costs of $25 in municipal court here. He pleaded guilty to keeping a disorderly house

Five girls and Joseph Spindel of Parker st., Lawrence, the alleged performers, will have a hearing Saturday.

6 HURT IN SHIP BLAST

CLEVELAND, April 18 (INS)—Six were injured today in an explosion aboard the freighter H. H. Taylor, docked at the Erie Railroad Company's dock in Cleveland harbor.

Comedian Herbert Awarded $10,863

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—Film Comedian Hugh Herbert was awarded $10,863.25 damages by a jury that heard his suit for $67,000 against Consolidated Film Industries, Inc.

Herbert said an automobile in which he was riding Dec. 29, 1938, was struck by a truck operated by Walter Welcher, employe of the film company. He contended injuries caused his earning power as an actor to decrease.

Here, little girl, is your Daddy!

COME, COME, LITTLE LADY! Here's your daddy—right here on the telephone. There, there—that's the smile. Now whisper the secret you've been saving.

For grown-up folks as well as growing folks, miles that separate us from loved ones are the longest miles in the world. What happiness to bridge the lonely miles and be together again: heart to heart, voice to voice. Effortlessly as you speak across the room you reach through space and time by the convenience and speed of telephone service.

Yet such priceless happiness costs so very little. Rates for out-of-town calls are very low — and still lower evenings after 7 and all day Sunday.

VOICE-TO-VOICE EASY AS FACE-TO-FACE CONVERSATION

We Americans hold more than eighty-five million conversations over the telephone every day. . . . We reach for the telephone to talk across the town or across whole states as naturally as we turn in our chairs to talk with a visitor. We think nothing of it because the rates even for out-of-town calls are low, especially so evenings after 7 and all day Sunday.

FARLEY TO OPEN RACE HERE

For the first time in history a presidential candidate will open his active campaign in Boston, it was learned today from Massachusetts' Democratic leaders who announced Postmaster-General Farley will address a dinner gathering at the Copley Plaza Hotel Sunday night.

Already a capacity gathering of Democrats is assured at the dinner, and the afternoon tea at the Hotel Statler, arranged by Democratic women.

Chairman James H. Connors is apprehensive that he will be forced to return applications received after Friday noon.

Interest in the Farley campaign has increased in the past week with resignation of First Assistant Postmaster-General W. W. Howes to concentrate on rounding up delegates in the West.

Farley has permitted announcement that he will make his first campaign speech at the dinner at which State Chairman William H. Burke, Jr., will preside.

Other speakers, in addition to Farley, whose speech will be broadcast over a national radio hookup, will be Mayor Tobin and the four former Democratic governors, David I. Walsh, Joseph B. Ely, James M. Curley and Charles F. Hurley.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Warn Taft in Maryland

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Sen. Taft of Ohio held the answer today to the question of whether Thomas E. Dewey would have one more primary battle before the Republican presidential candidate is nominated in June.

Taft, torn between conflicting advice of his campaign managers and friends, promised to decide during the day whether to accept the New York prosecutor's challenge to enter the Maryland presidential primary May 16.

This is the last primary contest still open to presidential aspirants. Candidates have until midnight Saturday to file.

Supporters of Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan, trounced by Dewey in Wisconsin and Nebraska, said he would not challenge the New Yorker in Maryland.

Some of Taft's advisers had urged him to stay out of the Maryland primary on the ground that he had more to lose than to gain and that only 16 delegates were at stake.

They also argued that he would have to buck the leaders of all important Republican factions in the state, who favor Dewey.

DEWEY HITS U. S. FAILURE TO CONQUER DEPRESSION

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 18 (INS)—The United States stands, needlessly, next to the bottom of the list of nations in recovery from the world depression, Thomas E. Dewey, Republican Presidential nomination campaigner, asserted today.

"The United States does not belong at the bottom of that list—it does not belong at the bottom of any list," Dewey told an audience in Oklahoma City Auditorium.

"It is time to stop this kind of business—time to deal intelligently with the abundance which the labors of our fathers have given us."

The youthful New York district attorney said in part:

"The New Deal has chosen to meet the challenge of abundance by attempting to abolish the abundance.. The result of that effort is to be seen on every hand.

10½ MILLION IDLE

"In our great industrial cities we have ten and a half million unemployed—the same number of idle workers that we had five years ago. In our agricultural areas we have discouragement and depression—and an income of 21 per cent less, per farm, than the average for the 1920's.

"You cannot have prosperity in the cities while there is depression on the farms. You cannot have prosperity on the farms while there is depression in the cities.

"There is little evidence that the New Deal ever tried to help business. But it did try to help agriculture. At any rate it spent billions of dollars and erected an enormous bureaucracy in the name of agricultural adjustment.

"What have been the results?

"The New Deal set out to limit agricultural production. Yet we have had record-breaking harvests.

"It set out to achieve parity prices. Yet most agricultural products are far below the level of parity as defined in the Triple A law.

"It set out to raise the prices received by farmers. Yet those prices in the seven years of the New Deal have averaged 19 per cent below the levels of the last seven Republican years.

FARM INCOME DROPS

"It set out to restore farm income. Yet in the seven years of the New Deal, the farmers' share of the national income, including government payments, has been less than in any other seven years of our history.

"Yes—the New Deal has tried to met the problems of agriculture. Yet it has failed.

"It failed because it has insisted upon looking at each aspect of our economic problem as if it were an isolated problem in itself. On the one hand, it has set to work to help agriculture, and on the other it has set to work to destroy the markets of agriculture.

"It is perfectly clear that one of the essential steps to bring about farm parity is to adopt policies which will increase the demand for farm products. To do that we must encourage the expansion of industry and the re-employment of workers.

LACK OF CO-ORDINATION

"But no specific measures will succeed unless they are part of a consistent national program for the co-ordination of our economic and governmental activities. These activities are now pulling in opposite directions.

"Let us look at the way the New Deal has handled the budget. The truth is, the New Deal has never 'handled' the budget at all. For seven extravagant years, the budget has been mis-handled by as thorough a crew of mis-handlers as has ever had charge of our national finances.

"The false doctrine of government spending as a means of producing wealth is the New Deal's contribution to our economic thought."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

VITAMIN B1 GROWS 5 INCH ROSES

DAFFODILS BIGGER THAN PLATES

GROWS GARDENIA PLANT FROM CORSAGE

REPORTS "Better Homes & Gardens" MAGAZINE

It sounds like a fish story, or perhaps, better still a fairy tale, when you read that Vitamin B-1 produced five-inch rose buds, daffodils as big as plates and dahlias twelve feet high. Many users of Vitamin B-1 even reported that sickly, half dead, indoor and outdoor plants burst into bloom after a few applications of Vitamin B-1. It sounds even more fantastic, when you read that a woman in California grew with Vitamin B-1 a gardenia plant from a bud she plucked off a corsage. Yet, all of these amazing stories were actually reported in detail in February issue of Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

A man in Washington, D. C., reports climbing a step-ladder to cut 10-inch dahlia blossoms off stalks 12 feet high!

Here is what experimenters at the California Institute of Technology reported after a series of tests of Vitamin B-1's effects on various plants. 1—Vitamin B-1 produced larger, healthier plants with bigger flowers. 2—Vitamin B-1 stimulated growth. 3—Vitamin B-1 relvigorated sick and straggly plants. 4—Vitamin B-1 helped seedlings to grow faster. 5—Vitamin B-1 made it possible to transplant house plants, trees and shrubs with very little set-back in time. 6—Vitamin B-1 stimulated the bloom of many plants that previously had refused to bloom. Further tests have proven that Vitamin B-1 aids in root cutting by stimulating growth. Some people soaked their seeds in a Vitamin B-1 solution before planting, because the first tiny roots reached the Vitamin on the outside of the seed and were stimulated toward healthier growth.

The easy way for you to use Vitamin B-1 on your plants and flowers is to get the 1-oz. bottle of B-Flora VITAMIN B-1 SOLUTION for only 49c at your nearest Nature Food Centres store. This 2-oz. bottle will vitamanize 500 gallons of water. With thevitaminized water you merely sprinkle your plants in the usual way. Many stores sell a 2-oz bottle of Vitamin B-1 solution for 75c and $1.00, so you can see that you save 26c to 51c by buying B-Flora VITAMIN B-1 SOLUTION, which is sold only at the Nature Food Centres stores. It's the inexpensive way to use Vitamin B-1.

WARPLANES VS. WARSHIPS---WHICH IS TOPS?

Struggle Between Nazi Planes, British Ships to Determine If U. S. Navy Is Obsolete

1. Planes

Since the World War, air-minded military experts have predicted the end of huge fighting ships . . . declaring no ship can have a deck armor-plated enough to withstand a two-ton bomb.

2. Ships

But peace-time tests favored the warship as planes seemingly were unable to fly low enough (because of anti-air fire) to score a sufficiency of direct hits. On this theory, the U. S. Navy was built

3. Battle Test—Today, Nazi planes battle British ships in the North Sea . . . and the answer to the planes vs. ships controversy hangs in the balance. Meanwhile, the American Navy goes on building such ships as these . . . ships expected to shrug off such bombs as those on the right. However, watch the North Sea. If Britain dominates at last, ships will win; if Germany, planes.

Navy Would Make Guam 'Formidable'

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The navy renewed today its advocacy of a major air and submarine base at Guam, tiny American island outpost 1500 miles from Tokyo.

A Guam base strong enough to make enemy operations against it a formidable undertaking, the Navy Department said, would tend to "stabilize the political situation in the Far East."

At the same time, the department rejected as "fantastic" any suggestion that the United States permanently station a fleet superior to Japan's in far eastern waters. The idea of a "two ocean" battle force was likewise dismissed.

The statements were incorporated in a series of answers to questions propounded by Chairman Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, of the Senate Naval committee, which is holding hearings on legislation authorizing an 11 per cent expansion in fleet strength.

MET DEFEAT

Previous proposals for fortification of Guam have met defeat in Congress after sharp debate. Foes of such a program declared that it would be "a dagger pointed at the throat of Japan." Japanese naval officers have called the plans an "unfriendly gesture" and a "moral threat" to their country.

Walsh explained that the questions involving Guam and other matters were submitted to him by a National Peace Conference representative and that the Navy's answers were requested so they could be incorporated in the record of committee hearings.

Opposition to the Guam project recently caused the House to eliminate a proposed $1,000,000 harbor improvement expenditure for the island, an action upheld by the Senate Appropriations committee in its refusal to include the item in the $693,767,748 Navy supply bill which went before the Senate today. Chances that the Senate would order it restored were considered small.

GUAM USEFUL

The Navy said its desire for a base at Guam was not affected by the question of protection of the Philippines, observing that Guam would be useful against any power because of its proximity to the shipping lanes to the East Indies, China and Japan.

Asked if the maintenance of an American fleet superior to the Japanese in the Far East would affect the present balance of political forces there, the Navy replied:

"The proposal appears rather fantastic and would be seriously challenged by any well qualified naval officer in a responsible position. Except under temporary diplomatic or war necessities, the permanent station of such a large proportion of our total sea strength so far from home would appear to be folly."

was done to the Stavanger runways by exploding bombs, the announcement declared.

STORY OF ATTACK

The statement said:

"Extensive air operations were carried out yesterday and last night at several points on the coast of Norway.

"The main attack was directed upon Stavanger. A large number of enemy aircraft were seen dispersed around the edge of the airdrome.

"High and low flying attacks were delivered by a strong force of bombers and direct hits were observed on runways. Bombs were seen to burst among transport aircraft parked on the southwest side of the airdrome.

"The attack lasted over an hour and fighter opposition was encountered.

"In addition to the aircraft destroyed on the ground, two twin-engined enemy aircraft were believed shot down.

"The airdrome was again attacked at night and further damage was reported.

"Our aircraft continued to patrol the fjords. A low level bombing attack was made on a submarine. One hit was observed. A supply ship also was attacked.

"Three of our aircraft failed to return."

Nazi Plane Sinks British Submarine

BERLIN, April 18 (INS)—A German plane bombed and sank a British submarine off the Norwegian southwest coast last Monday, German authorities announced today. Identity of the lost British submersible was not disclosed by the German announcement.

(Editor's Note—The British admiralty yesterday announced that the submarine Thistle, operating in the North sea, was considerably overdue at its base and presumed to have been lost.)

Hungary Seeks Red Aid to Block Nazis

BUDAPEST, April 18 (AP)—Hugnary is contemplating talks with Soviet Russia to ward off a possible German invasion to southeastern Europe, authoritative persons said today.

Just as Rumania and Yugoslavia appeard to be turning toward Moscow for support of their neutrality, Hungary, long regarded as the most anti-Soviet nation in Europe, was believed planning to follow a similar course.

The hope for Russian support was based principally on the belief that the Russians, despite their non-aggression and trade alliance with the Reich, are against any German advance into the Balkans and may be able to bring enough pressure on Germany to hold her off.

The Yugoslav government has announced that a delegation would leave for Moscow to sign a treaty for a resumption of trade relations severed since the Russian revolution.

MAY OPEN RELATIONS

It was believed that this move was designed to strengthen Yugoslavia's difficult position and possibly to lead to establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Rumania, which in recent days has been beset by an increased fear of a Russian attack on Bessarabia—Rumanian territory which has had a period under Russian rule—was reported to have reached a tentative agreement with Moscow for a retirement of the armies of both countries six miles behind their respective frontiers.

There is much less faith now in Hungary's case especially—in Italy's influence to keep Germany out of the Balkans. In some quarter there is a growing suspicion that if Germany were to drive into southeastern Europe, Italy, rather than oppose it, would move into Dalmatia and possibly Croatia sections of Yugoslavia, to "protect her interests" there.

Meanwhile, Rumania and Yugoslavia adopted measures for expulsion of thousands of recently-arrived Germans widely suspected of being forerunners of the German army.

Hungarian officials were reported to be investigating the arrival of the Germans, 300 of whom were said to be agents of the German secret police who operated in Vienna and Prague before the German army entered Austria and Czechoslovakia.

In addition to rounding up these "visitors," the Balkan nations looked to their defenses, and Rumania was said in some quarters to be considering seriously the course of aligning herself with the Near East defense system formed by the Allies and Turkey. Usually informed sources said that Rumanian staff officers had established contact at Ankara with Turkish military experts.

TENSENESS IN AIR

The Dardanelles straits, ever the key to politics in this part of the world, today lay within striking distance by warships of five nations which maneuvered under strict orders. A tenseness was in the air, and Balkan newspapers stressed dispatches reporting that "Italy's hour for decision is near."

The five nations whose ships were centered about the Dardanelles, gateway to the Black sea, are Turkey, who holds the straits, Italy, France, Great Britain and Russia.

The Italian fleet was assembled in the nearby Aegean Sea for what Rome calls "customary spring maneuvers." The Allies, taking no chances were reported to have taken "counter measure" in the Dardanelles region.

Turkey sent the battle cruiser Yavuz and other naval units into the Sea of Marmora near Gallipoli and Russia reported to be maneuvering in the Black Sea, was said to have laid hundreds of mines in the sea.

West Front Attack Repulsed, Nazis Say

BERLIN, April 18 (INS)—Defeat of an allied attack in a new outburst of fighting on the Western front was announced by the German high command today.

The official war communique stated:

"On the Western front our advance outposts southwest of Saarbruecken repulsed an attack by an enemy company, inflicting losses upon the latter."

War leaves imprint on milady's hair styles . . . and one wartime coiffure, accentuating trim simplicity, is this . . . pictured at recent hairdressers' show in London. NORWAY'S SUICIDE SQUAD HOLDS FORT

ON THE SWEDISH-NORWEGIAN FRONTIER, April 18 (INS)—Hemmed in on all sides and vastly outnumbered, a hardy little band of Norwegian soldiers is holding out in the Fortress of Fossum against tremendous odds, it was learned today.

Refugees from Norway told the story for the first time, comparing the resistance of Fossum to that of the Alcazar in Spain and of the Island of Mantsi in Finland's Lake Ladoga.

The defenders of Fossum, travelers disclosed, have already earned a place in history along with these chapters of courage and determination.

Not the least important is the fact that the men of Fossum are without command. Virtually all of the Norwegian military officers in Oestvold province, where Fossum stands, were disarmed and sent across the border into Sweden for internment.

OTHER FORCES QUIT

The full story of Fossum is not yet known and may not be for some time.

What is known, however, is that the fortress, probably equipped with the magnificent Bofors guns which Sweden manufactured for Norway's defense, lies in the direct center of the southeastern Norwegian province over which the Germans swarmed when treason in high places and the activities of Adolf Hitler's "Fifth Column" made the invasion possible.

From Halden south to Kongsvinger, the Germans swept with but little resistance. Kongsvinger far more heavily fortified than Fossum, gave way even before the invaders arrived. The city had surrendered and had been evacuated before a shot was fired.

General Erichsen, commander-in-chief of the Oestvold garrison, capitulated and crossed the border together with members of his staff. He apparently considered resistance hopeless.

But the men who manned Fossum believed otherwise.

OASIS OF LOYALTY

The Germans thus have had to carry out their occupation of Oestvold under handicaps, splitting their lines in such a manner as to avoid the guns of Fossum.

In the north, east, south and west the defenders of Fossum are maintaining an almost continuous fire, preserving the fort and its surrounding territory as a virtual oasis of Norwegian loyalty in the midst of invasion.

"I know the men of Fossum and I know the strength of that fort," one high Norwegian army officer said on his arrival at the border.

"I think they can stave off the Germans indefinitely."

Resistance of the Alcazar in Toledo, Spain, prolonged the civil war there for months. The Finns on Mantsi likewise barried the invading Russians unmercifully for weeks. The Soviets succeeded in taking all points along the eastern shore of Lake Ladoga and by sending armored sledges across the ice were able to attack Mantsi from the south and west as well.

But so far as is known, the defenders of Mantsi still were at their posts when the Finnish government capitulated.

Mothers Draft Anti-War Bill

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (INS)—A movement to oppose any United States intervention in the European war was initiated today by the National League of the Mothers of America. The board of directors announced approval of an anti-war bill for submission to Congress.

Called into session by Mrs. Kathleen Norris, nationally known writer and president of the Mothers Legion, the directors unanimously passed the resolution and advocated its transmission to the organization's legislative committee at Washington for immediate action.

This is the first step taken by the Legion of Mothers toward realization of its program to keep America at peace. The movement now numbers more than 1,000,000 members.

Says Deutschland Aground in Norway

STOCKHOLM, April 18 (AP) — A Norwegian reaching Sweden from Trondheim today reported the German pocket battleship Deutschland was ashore in Osjenfjord, northeast of Trondheim.

The Deutschland, 10,000-ton sister ship of the scuttled Admiral Graf Spee was renamed Lutzow last October. There was no confirmation of the Norwegian's report she had been grounded.

BRITISH, FRENCH PROTECT INDIES AGAINST JAPAN

AMBASSADOR GREW
To Confer With Jap Office

toward realization overnight," one observer said.

NAVY STRONG

The Japanese navy, in contrast to the Japanese army, this source went on, has not been weakened directly by the war in China. The navy was pictured "cocky and full of fight and as believing that its own exploits in China could be duplicated in the East Indies."

"The navy likewise apparently convinced that the East Indies could be subjugated before the British-French forces could swing into action, therefore the present is the most auspicious for a Japanese gamble.

Proponents of action by Japan also probably believe that if a quick coup is accomplished, and the American public is presented with a fait accompli, the United States will not retaliate."

There were reports that Japanese political agents have been active in stirring up an anti-Dutch campaign among East Indian natives. Thousands of the natives were said to belong to pro-Japanese and pan-Asiatic societies.

CHANCES GOOD

Foreign experts in Shanghai expressed the opinion that Japan would fare better than an even chance of success even considering the possibility of heavy losses.

They said Japan would have to use scores of squadrons of cruisers, gun destroyers, submarines, aircraft carriers and transports to smash through the British and French submarines, cruisers and destroyers now based at Singapore and in French Indo-China, blacking Japan's 2000-mile line of communications southward from Formosa.

Mandated strategic harbors of the Dutch East Indies are mined and the East Indies defense force could put up a fight with its 15 submarines, six destroyers, two cruisers and a strong, American-built airforce using American-built planes. The figures on the Dutch defense are estimates.

THREE DETERRENTS

The foregoing are the immediate tactical factors. Three other considerations in the field of broad strategy were pointed out as deterrents:

1. The prospect that sporadic fighting, such as has for years disturbed the common boundaries of the Japanese and Russian empires, might be resumed at any time.

2. The possibility that Japan would not wish to become a war ally of Germany against the British and French.

3. The chance that the United States might act to protect its communications and trade lines to the Philippines and its sources of raw materials in the East Indies, or, broadly, move to preserve the status quo in the Pacific.

Italy War Fever Cools, London Told

of London's best-known experts.

"Don't worry—it's not war."

Other observers quoted by Lorenz expressed the conclusion the show of Italian hostility was linked with Germany's drive to the north and voiced belief that Italy would stop "just short of war."

Informed sources studying the tone of the Italian press, theorized that Mussolini had agreed at his recent meeting with Hitler in the Brenner Pass to begin a saber-rattling campaign in the Mediterranean when the Nazis moved into Scandinavia.

Doubt as to Italy's intentions was pointed out, would cause France to maintain strong forces on the Italian frontier and reduce the number of allied troops available for duty in Norway. It also would prevent Britain from reinforcing her naval forces off Norway with units from the Mediterranean.

ONLY DUCE'S BARK

However, in the opinion of at least one diplomat, Italy will "do no more than bark."

"In the course of these barkings, Mussolini may renew his old demands for Tunisia, but it will stop there," this commentator said.

He indicated Italy would be restrained from war, not only by "the people's apathy," but by "Germany's reluctance to open still a third front."

Neither the Italian embassy nor foreign office circles seemed upset by the situation.

The foreign office steadfastly declined to comment, but sources close to it said they expected "an improvement in the outlook quite soon."

A number of recent reports indicating that Italy was preparing to enter the conflict were also somewhat dissipated overnight.

First, the Italian embassy flatly denied a Reuter's dispatch reporting that Bari, used as a port of embarkation during the Italo-Abyssinian war, had again been declared a "prohibited area."

Second, reliable information threw considerable doubt on reports of troop movements in Albania. These were believed to have been based on widespread transportation of Italian workmen several weeks ago.

Third, there was nothing concrete to substantiate rumors or beliefs that Yugoslavia is menaced.

Lady Carey in U. S. To Aid Allied Troops

NEW YORK, April 18 (INS)—Lady Willoughby Carey of London arrived aboard the Cunard-White Star liner Scythia to raise $50,000 in the United States to provide diversion for Allied troops at the front. The money, she said, will be used to buy musical instruments for the troops.

F. D. BACKS HULL WARNING TO JAPAN ON DUTCH INDIES

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt expressed a hope today that the status quo in the whole Pacific area could be maintained in the interests of peace.

He stated his view in a press conference when asked for comment on Secretary Hull's statement yesterday that disturbance of the status quo would prejudice the cause of "stability, peace and security not only in the region of the Netherlands Indies but in the entire Pacific area."

Hull's statement, in effect was a notice to other nations to keep hands off the Dutch East Indies.

ANSWER TO JAPAN

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters that Hull's declaration had covered the situation completely.

Taking cognizance of Japan's expressed concern for the "peace of the islands should the European war reach" the Netherlands Secretary of State Hull said in a statement last night:

"Intervention in the domestic affairs of the Netherlands Indies or any alteration of their status quo by other than peaceful processes would be prejudicial to the cause of stability, peace and security not only in the region of the Netherlands Indies but in the entire Pacific area."

Secretary Hull [illegible] not to [illegible] specifically, but he prefaced his statement with a reference to one made by Japanese Foreign Minister Arita on Monday expressing the deep concern of the Japanese government for the main[illegible] the islands' status quo.

COLLIDES WITH VIEWS

Official comment at Tokyo was that the statement conceded with the foreign minister's views on the subject. An admiral spokesman declared "if Japan had no hostile designs on the Dutch possessions."

The Netherlands has been the ruling political power in the East Indies virtually since the first Dutch explorer visited the islands in 1596.

From the Indian Ocean eastward into the Pacific, the islands stretch along the Equator for some 3200 miles. They have an area of 735,642 square miles and support a population of 60,727,125, mostly native. The possessions have for many years enjoyed virtually a dominion status.

Rich in natural resources, many of which Japan lacks, the islands produce a considerable proportion of the world's supply of rubber, tin, quinine, copra and petroleum.

The United States depends on them for some of its most essential raw materials. American imports were valued at $93,156,000 in 1939.

Holland Tells Japan It Wants No Protectorate

THE HAGUE, April 18 (AP)—The Netherlands government today informed Japan that neither will nor any foreign government be invited to protect Netherlands East Indies interests, the war should spread to Holland, but accepts an offer of protection [illegible] it was announced today.

Meanwhile the Dutch received with [illegible] satisfaction the statement by United States Secretary of State Hull which insisted that the interests of many countries would be affected if any attempt to intervene in the affairs of the Indies.

There was no official comment on Hull's statement which was received too late for most of the morning newspapers. The afternoon papers apparently on inspired advice gave it an extraordinary prominence.

Hint Major Land Battle Nears at Trondheim are now pouring into the Norwegian battlefields and will be able to call on the Norwegians for valuable assistance, despite the fact that Norwegian resistance was scattered during the first nine days of fighting.

To meet the new British threat, the Germans are flying thousands of troops northward over Norway. The crew of one German plane forced down near Stockholm said they had lost their way while making a return flight from the northern Norwegian port of Narvik, where bitter fighting is still believed in progress between the British and Germans.

RUSH NAZIS BY PLANES

According to the airmen, the plane had helped transport German soldiers from Nazi bases in Denmark. Many other planes, apparently on similar missions, flew along the west coast of Sweden.

Dispatches to Stockholm told of feverish activity at Trondheim, where one detachment of Germans was heading south to engage Norwegian forces near the town of Roeraas.

In addition, it was believed, [illegible] stations were being rushed to meet the anticipated British assault on the German-held port.

Reports from Gothenburg stated that numerous German planes had been sighted flying along the Swedish west coast, including 18 bombers which passed over Stroemstand. An air raid alarm was sounded and cannonading was heard.

REPORT HEAVY FIGHTING

Military circles in Stockholm predicted that the Germans will not be able to hold Trondheim when the British move against them in force.

Norwegian troops who reached Sweden after Germans occupied Bentfjeld on the Narvik iron ore railway said the Germans had no artillery. Whether the British are as yet in complete control of Narvik is not yet clear from reports reaching here. It seemed evident, however, that bitter fighting occurred there and that some Germans were forced to retreat.

Yesterday's reports indicated the British had effected contact with their Norwegian allies in the northern Narvik area and that both were working together in the drive against the Nazis.

bellhop in the hotel. He married Alyce after a whirlwind courtship and after he had known her only a month.

"The bellhops held a party for them, and presented them with a purse of $45 or $50.

"Byle is tall and dark-haired, but has blue eyes. He came to the hotel two years ago and often mentioned that he had studied two years at Illinois."

MOTHER OVERJOYED

"I have been constantly in the public eye ever since my operation at Fall River. Some people seem to think I'm a freak. I'm perfectly normal and I intend to raise a family right away."

Overjoyed at the news was her mother, Mrs. Louella Packard McHenry, who flew to Chicago to see her new son-in-law and bestow parental blessing.

Equally happy were nurses and doctors at Truesdale Hospital in Fall River where the girl hovered between life and death in March, 1935. She came here from Omaha, Neb., for her life-saving operation and an entire nation watched her condition daily.

The honeymooners were found today in the Hotel Ansonia in Chicago's loop. She had come to Chicago as a model and her romance was swift and sure.

"I intend to continue my modeling career," she declared in revealing that she had turned down a $75,000 offer to appear in a movie based on her early life and operation. She added that her husband, son of Dr. Arch S. Byle, intended to resume his accounting studies at Northwestern.

GROWN BEAUTIFUL

Alyce, now beautiful and grown into young womanhood, told of her remarkable recovery from an operation which restored her stomach from her heart cavity to its normal place.

"When I was well enough to leave Truesdale Hospital," she said, "I determined to pattern my life after that of Annette Kellerman.

"I had heard that she literally had swum her way to health.

"I was pretty thin after the operation but I was sure that I would be well and healthy again. First I had to learn to walk all over again. Then they taught me to swim.

"Constant exercise strengthened my muscles and then I started to gain weight. My greatest joy came when I went back to school and found that I could do the same things that my schoolmates could. I have been happy since."

Alyce came to Fall River for the operation that was to save her life in March, 1935.

In a delicate operation, the child's roving tummy was righted and put back into its proper abdominal position. Although a very sick girl, doctors announced the operation a success and said she had an even chance for recovery.

During the weeks that followed, she gained back her health steadily. The whole nation read daily reports of her condition. Soon she was able to sit up, then to walk and finally to go back to her home in Omaha, Neb., cured and well.

Boy, Girl Win Essay Contest

Looking forward to winning a $2000 prize—they hope—in the essay contest sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars were two Revere youngsters today.

They were Rita Hammel, 15, of Highland at., and Richard M. Bagnulo, 16, of Van at., who were chosen winners in a local contest for the best essay written by a high school student on the benefits of democracy.

The Revere contest was sponsored by the auxiliary of the V. F. W. there. The winners will be given medals for their Revere triumph, and their papers sent to state headquarters of the V. F. W. to be entered in the national contest.

LONDON, April 18 (INS)—The American consul general at Stockholm advised Americans to evacuate their families into the country, the Daily Telegraph said today in a dispatch from the Swedish capital.

Stage Showing Of Rare Jewels

Fear of ridicule from their womenfolk is all that deters most men from wearing diamonds and other jewelry, according to Miss June Hamilton Rhodes, guest speaker at a private reception and exhibition at the Shreve, Crump & Lowe Co. store, Boylston st., Back Bay.

Hosts at the gathering were B. S. Shreve, president, and Richard S. Shreve, director, of the firm. On display, for examination by guests, were precious gems, costly and elaborate watches and other examples of modern and historic jewelry.

Miss Rhodes, director of the New York Bureau of Fashion Trends, said the newest thing in 1940 jewelry is "its movement, life and vitality."

Gold and silver identification bracelets, in vogue during the World War of 1914-1918, are again coming into style, she said.

NORSE SHIP FINDS NO MINES OFF HUB

Assuer in answer to a radio inquiry that the approaches to Boston harbor have not been mined, the captain of the Norwegian freighter Vignid, from Hadras, India, brought the vessel into port today

At the same time, harbor officials were faced with a serious berthing problem, as ships of belligerent nations seeking haven here daily are choking navigation channels.

The radio message from the Vignid was received by Capt. Lawrence H. Dunn of the harbor police late last night and read as follows:

"Harbormaster, Boston . . due tomorrow . . 40 days out of Madras . . crew 34 . . no sickness . . are threre any mine fields in Boston approaches? (signed) Master, Vignid."

Capt. Dunn radioed the reply, and the vessel arrived in the harbor a few hours later. After quarantine inspection the vessel will berth at pier 3, East Boston.

With berthing space at a premium, another Norwegian freighter, the Torrens of the Wilhelmson Line, arrived in the harbor from New York. The Torrens is queen of a fleet of 70 vessels owned by the Wilhelmson Line, and was put in service only eight months ago, and makes 21 knots an hour.

Capt. Thor Bruu revealed that the Nazi blitzkrieg on Norway had struck so suddenly that Norwegian shipping interests had no chance to issue instructions to captains of vessels in all ports of the world.

"We have received no communication from Norway since the invasion," Capt. Brun said. "And we have been unable to contact our agents. Along with scores of other Norwegian vessels we seem to be without a home port. All we can do is to remain until we can get word from company officials."

Capt. Bruu said that like Boston, the shipping congestion at New York exceeding anything that port had ever witnessed and the problem is increasing daily.

Several members of the Torren's crew, he said, were members of the Norwegian army and navy reserves and were anxious to return to Norway to join their units. He advised them to remain with the ship until the situation is clarified.

Two more refugee ships came into port to further snarl the anchorages in the harbor. Capt. Dunn said that practically all berthing space is taken up in the lower harbor. Three other Norwegian ships are anchored off Deer Island.

Your answer to this puzzle, together with your solutions to the five other Rebus Puzzles appearing from Mon., April 15, to Sat. April 20, inclusive, should be brought or mailed to the Rebus Editor, Boston Record-American, P. O. Box 2058, before Midnight, Sat. April 27, together with 10c in coin in return for remittances, contestants will receive a special set of puzzles at the close of the contest

In your hands you now have today's new Rebus puzzle . . . and in a few short weeks, you may be holding Ten Thousand Dollars Cash! $10,000.00 is the amount of the great First Prize to be awarded in this fascinating contest . . . and by solving each day's puzzle in accordance with the rules, that $10,000.00 First Prize may become YOURS!

Follow through with this contest and don't lag behind in this great race to fortune! If you've missed any of the previous puzzles, send for them at once, so as to bring your entry up to date. Use the coupon at the lower right to order the puzzles you need.

Remember, in this contest, solutions are submitted in series of six—that is, the six puzzles appearing from Monday through Saturday of each week. Ten cents in coin must accompany each week's series to qualify for a prize under the rules.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England States, except employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.

2—Beginning Monday, February 12th, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each weekday in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor c/o the Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One Hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles and if necessary a second, third, or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles, without assistance.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filled therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

6—Any person, by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters of fact or law pertaining to this contest, including among others, the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestants to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the contestant.

QUERY: If I was given the choice of receiving a set of two letters I would prefer, as I would make a word out of them. Is there any difference between "H" from the word DANGER, and "H" from the word HEIGHT? Would it make any difference if I took both the first or the last letters of the words of the second "H" the fifth letter of the word?

REPLY: No difference. All puzzles are so made up as to give you the right answer if you follow directions and do your "picture-arithmetic" correctly, no matter which one of two or more possibilities you follow. The Rebus Game is a game of skill and nothing is left to chance in a case like that, you don't have to resort to guesswork—either letter could be crossed out without making any difference in the solution you arrive at.

Not By Bread Alone

By ROSAMOND SHAFFER

CLATTER, clatter went the typewriter. Hum-hum went the sewing machine. Bob was typing. Alice was sewing. It made an insufferable dim in the tiny one-room apartment. B-r-r-ring went the telephone. Both Bob and Alice jumped for it. Bob hoped. "Perhaps I've sold that radio series." Alice breathed to herself, "If it would only be a call from the studio."

It was the janitor. Alice, standing close behind Bob as he talked, heard him plainly.

"The folks downstairs sez you're running some kind of machinery in your apartment. They furder sez it's too much noise."

"Well, why don't they get a villa at Antibes for the summer? Do they think they can get quiet and privacy for $25 a month in a hole like this?" Bob slammed up the phone.

"Bob, don't waste your cleverness on the janitor. He probably never heard of Antibes. You know we're not in any position to talk back; we'll have to fold the table pad and put it under the typewriter. I'll finish the rest of my sewing by hand.

"I wish you'd quit going around here with that patient martyr air of yours. Why don't you say what you mean, that I'm not clever—that you've supported me for nearly a year and I haven't been able to earn a cent with all my cleverness? That you have to try to compete with other girls who have husbands buying clothes and furs and jewelry for them? That I'm holding you back in your career? Why don't you say it and have it over with?"

The Cast of Characters in "Not by Bread Alone"

ALICE, who finally gets a divorce from Bob, simply because they get on each other's nerves.

CHARLEY, a wealthy man, accustomed to having his own way and who decides to marry Alice.

"Bob, let's not go over all that again. I don't complain, and I'm not feeling like a martyr. It's what we planned to do, isn't it? I know it may be a long pull, but we'll make it. Living in this place isn't easy. I can do my share if you'll be reasonable and take hold of yourself. This way, you're in such a state of mind you can't work the way you should. You're just destroying both of us."

"Well I'm not going on destroying you if that's the way you feel. I'm getting out. I should have known better than to get into some arrangement where a woman is supporting me."

"Bob, you're crazy! I'm not some 'woman,' I'm Alice, and I love you. You'll get there, right up on top!"

"No, Alice, I've made up my mind. You get the divorce; cruelty or anything you want that'll make your case look good and won't damage you in the papers. I'm nobody. I can't be hurt by bad publicity."

"MY REWARD"

Alice lost her temper completely. "Oh, so you're going to be big about it? Well, that's my reward for what I tried to do for you! Perhaps I can get somewhere alone, as you say. I can't go to the studio and be a second Sarah Bernhardt when I've spent half of the night smoothing out your sour moods and tantrums.

"By the time I get done cooking and sewing and washing and cleaning, I haven't got a spark of anything to give to acting. I find myself snapping at people on the set. So if you're through, that suits me fine. Let's call it a deal."

Three months later Alice was back from Reno. Her agent had financed the divorce. It had been easy to get; non-support, mental cruelty which interfered with her work. A new contract was coming up; things looked much better now that she was free.

Free for what? Free to be seen here and there with this and that actor or playboy, breaking into the movie columns, going to the big parties. There was enough money now to buy some decent outfits.

It was heavenly to come home to the new, pretty little apartment, with its gracious living room and tiny bedroom, bath and kitchenette, its flower filled patio. Heavenly to be admired, to be sought after, to have the long tinsel-tied boxes of flowers to open and put in vases. Heavenly to have no responsibility except to look beautiful, to conserve one's strength for work one loves.

It was the calm after the storm, a return to the carefree days of girlhood. Why, when women crazy enough to give up everything for a man? Love was a mirage. She'd never be caught that way again. Her next marriage, if there was one, would be a solid, well planned affair. If images of her early days with Bob arose in quiet moments, she resolutely put them out of her mind.

About Bob's welfare she had no worries or cause for self-recrimination. His family, once he was out of a mesalliance with a movie actress, would look after him. She hoped he would be successful, for his own sake. Bob was so intense. Sighing, she put thoughts of him out of her mind.

SHE WAS DIFFERENT

It was inevitable that Charley Fletcher or somebody like him would appear on the scene. Alice, with her rich curling red hair and brown eyes, her sparkle and wit, was not made to be alone. This was the first thought of every man who met her. She had had such fun, laughing at them all, not bitterly, but gaily.

A man couldn't be offended, not with Alice. She made it all such a lively game, which perhaps a fellow could win some day if he kept trying.

Charley Fletcher wasn't that sort. Charley had money and plenty of it. He wasn't in films. He regarded film people with a certain tolerance, but underneath was a contempt for them. Alice was different, he had decided. She was formed to shine in other circles.

To be specific, the circles in which he moved, for he had decided that he was going to marry her. His family, firmly entrenched in the Social Register, was alarmed at first, but grew quickly to accept Alice, first because Charley was head of the family and had an iron will, and second, because they liked Alice on her own merits.

This same iron will of Charley's functioned in the matter of wooing Alice just as forcefully, smoothly and efficiently as it did in managing his other business interests. Alice was swept along, protesting, at a much faster rate than she was prepared to progress at in the matter of Charley. For the first time in her life Alice began to wonder what life would be like with a man who insisted on fitting other people's lives into his neat plans for his own. In a way the system of Charley offered advantages; no responsibility for Alice forever after, plenty of money to spend and a lovely life lived gracefully in beauty.

Such a contrast to life with Bob. The vagrant thought had crept past the barrier of her resolve. Alice pulled her mind back. She had put her memories in mothballs and there they must stay.

The wedding loomed within a week. Alice had begged off from being with Charley for one evening; she pleaded an early call, but she had wanted to be alone. If only Charley didn't rush her so!

A walk seemed a good idea. Suddenly the cherished apartment with its comforts seemed so bare and lonely. Alice reached for her beret and a tweed coat. Walking along Vine Street near the Brown Derby, Alice ran into Bob. He was walking rapidly, hat pulled down over one eye, pipe puffing. He was a trifle embarrassed, but with a determined air he threw that off and stopped to talk.

"Hello Alice. The society columns keep me informed that you are doing very well for yourself. May I congratulate you on your doing the wise thing, and wish you happiness?"

Alice went numb. Out came the memories. She reached her hand to Bob's arm.

"Can't we go someplace and talk?" she pleaded.

Bob drew her arm through his. "Why not?" he said.

They walked along without speaking. Somehow, they found themselves in a little Hungarian restaurant off the Boulevard.

Alice burst the silence which was heavy with emotional content.

"I can't go through with this thing Bob," she said, burying her face in her hands.

Bob reached his arm around her. "You don't have to, Alice. After all you've done for me, I'm not going to let you make a mistake a second time. I've acted like a selfish fool. I think I can do better if you'll try it again with me, Alice," he said humbly.

"We could both do better this time, I'm sure," said Alice, crying happily. "We won't need to live in that tiny place again. We just got on each other's nerves. Though there were some mighty happy times there, too, Bob."

LOVE'S TRIUMPH

"Actresses mustn't spoil their looks crying, darling. Wipe your pretty eyes and look at this week's Variety. Your husband's made [illegible]. I've sold that radio series, and I have a nice contract to work on it."

The waiter, looking into their booth to see if anything else were wanted, took himself off quietly.

"But, Bob, would you have let me go ahead and get married without ever saying a word against it to me?" queried Alice.

"I was on my way to telephone you when I met you," said Bob. "I was going to try to find out if you really loved this guy, or whether you were after security. But Alice, you couldn't live on security, not you. You need it, but it isn't everything."

"But if you hadn't sold the radio series? Would you—?"

"I'd have called anyway, I suppose. With less dignity, but I'd just about overcome that pride stuff, too. It's a very expensive luxury, being proud. It nearly lost me you."

"Bob, I always knew in my heart I couldn't marry for money, but I have not been listening to my heart for some time. That was pretty silly of me, wasn't it?"

"You can take it as a positive certainty that it was very silly, darling," said Bob, as he gathered her closer in his arms.

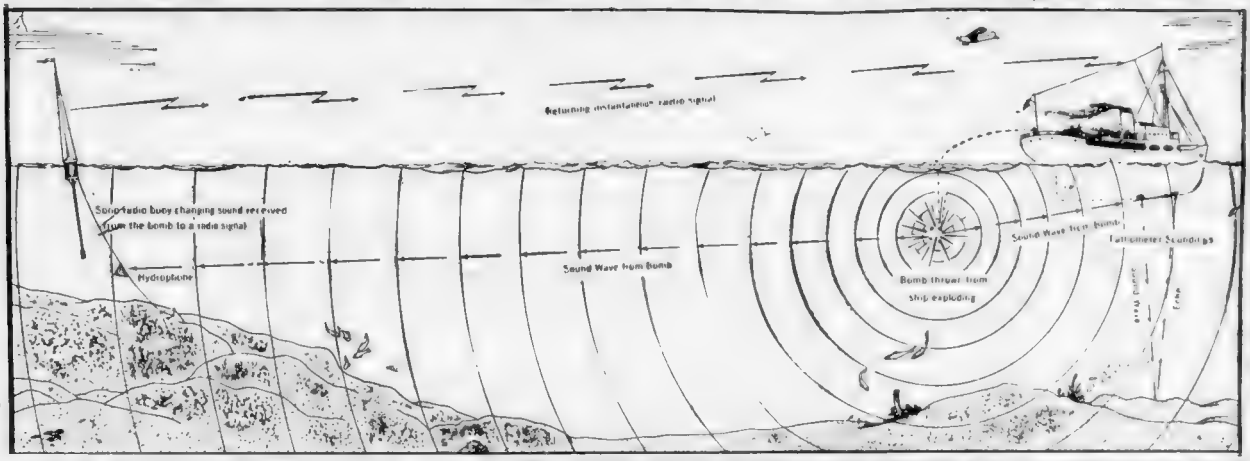
CHARTING THE OCEAN'S BOTTOM FOR PEACE

Oceanographer Plotting 25,000 Square Miles of Sea Off the New England Coast

EVENING AMERICAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1940



Returning "instantaneous" radio signal
Sono-radio buoy changing sound received from the bomb to a radio signal
Hydrophone
Sound Wave from Bomb
Bomb thrower from ship exploding
Sound Wave from Bomb
Fathometer Soundings

DEPTH RECORDER—Also used to determine depths of water is the Hughes Depth Recorder . . . and the chart above shows the echo off Nantucket's bottom . . . about 20 fathoms. Strip shows progress of ship.

With almost the whole world knuckling its composite chucklehead trying to conjure up new and more awful ways to sink ships it is highly gratifying to be able to report that right off our own rugged New England coast one of the greatest ocean surveys ever attempted in this area is under way to perfect safer ways to operate ships.

Conducting the survey, which is in its preliminary stages for the present, is the pride of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey fleet, the Oceanographer.

The Oceanographer, former palatial yacht Corsair which financier J. P. Morgan "sold" to the government for one dollar nearly 10 years ago, will spend two and a half years off the New England coast plotting more than 25,000 square miles of tricky ocean bottoms.

The project, known officially to the lads who are going to pay the bills as HT 248, covers an area which with a bit of imagination looks like some gigantic buffalo browsing on New England's doorstep.

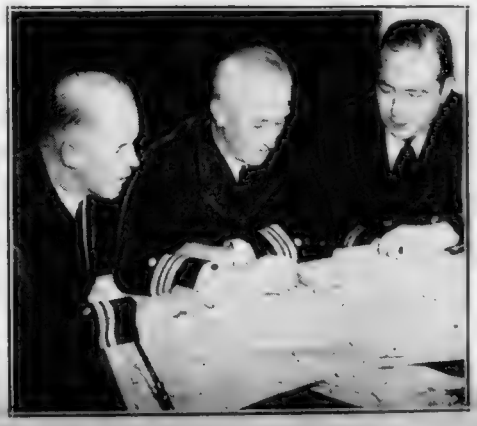
The body of the "buffalo" extends nearly 300 miles to sea. Its head projects into Cape Cod Bay, a huge forefoot seems to be pawing at the dangerous Nantucket shoals, while its shoulders fit snugly into the curve of the several hundred mile coastline to finally conform with a tremendous hump that just brushes Quoddy Head on the northeastern shores of Maine.

Typical of these officers are Capt. Fred L. Peacock, commander of the Oceanographer, who, incidentally, is just returning to sea after a six-year shore session; Lieut. Cornelius D. Meaney, executive officer, and Lieut. John C. Mathisson.

The Oceanographer will remain at sea for 10-day periods, returning to its Boston Navy Yard base for refueling and supplies.

Oceanographer . . . Now Charting Ocean's Bottom

FATHOMETER AT WORK—Lieut. Franklin R. Gossett (left) and Chief Quartermaster Robert Savage check recordings of ocean bottom by means of the Fathometer. Job'll take some 30 months of hard work.



BUOY JOB—Checking the checker is this . . . with Lieut. Joseph Flusheno at work on the Sono Radio Buoy which helps ship to chart position while checking up on the depth of the ocean.

WORK DONE—With part of the survey of 25,000 square miles of ocean floor done (l. to r.), Lieut. C. D. Meaney, Lieut. Cmdr. F. L. Peacock and Lieut. J. C. Mathisson look over the recordings

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT spoke with great and somewhat puzzling vehemence in his address commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the Pan-American Union.

"In this association of nations," he said, "whoever touches any one of us touches all of us.

"We have only asked that the world go with us in the path of peace.

"But we shall be able to keep that way open if we are prepared to meet force with force if challenge is ever made."

This is most alarming language.

It conveys the impression that there is a very real and IMMEDIATE danger of an attack upon the American nations, either individually or severally.

There is no public knowledge of such a threat.

Unless President Roosevelt knows something the American people have not been told about, there IS no such threat.

What foreign power is threatening to, or is expected to, "touch" any one of the American nations?

What powerful non-American nation is offering a challenge of the safety of the Western Hemisphere which requires the meeting of force with force?

If there is anything so ominous afoot, the American peoples should certainly be specifically informed about it.

President Roosevelt has figuratively posed himself on the battlements, as if the enemy had already made himself known and was on his way.

Of course the American nations, including the United States, should unite against any imminent danger.

But should not they first know there IS a danger, and have it positively identified?

The President said in the same address that "peace among our American nations remains secure because of the instruments we have succeeded in creating."

Frankly, the most effective instruments for peace we possess are the wide oceans—which we did NOT create.

Not within this century have we found trouble without going beyond these wide oceans to look for it.

Our real American dangers are in our quarrelsome and meddling disposition against minding our own American business.

NEW ENGLAND FOODS are among the world's healthiest, says Professor Carl R. Fellers of Massachusetts State College, Amherst, in an address to the fifth annual regional conference of the National Restaurant Association.

We have said this numerous times in the past. We have pointed out that in this part of the country, with its varying climate and wide assortment of fruits, vegetables and meats, every housewife can serve perfectly balanced meals.

Consequently, it is with an abundance of pleasure that we now see our statements confirmed by scientific authority.

Visitors from other sections of the country are often heard to comment on the better complexions of New England women, the greater vitality of our men and the seemingly inexhaustible supply of energy in our children.

Later, having made the acquaintance of our tables, they know our traditional Yankee vigor is the reward of proper eating.

MRS. EDITH MAYO of Rochester, Minn., widow of the distinguished surgeon, Charles H. Mayo, is the "American Mother of 1940."

A committee representing the Golden Rule Foundation selected Mrs. Mayo for this honor because, in the opinion of the committee members, she represents "the best there is in womanhood."

In an age of small dwellings and smaller families, Mrs. Mayo bore eight children and adopted two others.

MRS. EDITH MAYO
"1940 American Mother"

In an age notorious for self-exploitation and spotlight grabbing, Mrs. Mayo was content to leave fame to her gifted husband and devoted herself almost entirely to the responsibilities of the home.

In an age shamed by divorce, separations and countless kinds of domestic strife and warfare, Mrs. Mayo was able to enjoy nearly a half-century of happy marriage.

Millions therefore will say that she has been rightly chosen to symbolize ideal motherhood in the United States.

For in Mrs. Mayo's life millions will see their own mothers' lives which may have escaped mention on the front pages and the back pages, but which are stamped indelibly on the minds and characters of devoted sons and daughters.

Mrs. Mayo will only wear the crown. Good mothers everywhere will share it.

Well, if she grows up faithful and alert and full of fun . . . it's all that I can ask for—mine will be a job well done . . .

Heredity will count of course, but training counts as well . . . For in the long run always it is training that will tell.

PAST personal tragedies have inspired much of Hitler's bitterness. When he was a house painter in Vienna, he proposed to a girl of Jewish parentage and was turned down. He never mentions that. But in a recent interview Der Fuehrer, with uncontrollable rage, screamed: "In 1923, when there was inflation in Germany, I paid 19,000,000 marks for a second-hand automobile. And what then happened? It stalled in traffic and could not be made to go again."

A SMARTLY DRESSED and good looking young woman passing seems to have a black eye. I hope she has a good alibi for it. I knew a young woman only married two weeks when she came to the office with a black eye. "Why don't you divorce the brute?" said one co-worker. "Why don't you tell your husband to punch you in the jaw where it won't show?" said another. The young woman said she was looking up at a tree when a walnut fell and hit her in the eye. What are some good alibis for married women with black eyes? Or is it best just to suffer in silence?

WHEN Robinson Jeffers, the brilliant poet, was born his father was fifty-two years old. More proof children born of older than the average parents are usually the most talented . . . "AM SIXTY-SIX and never had a toothache" writes J. J. Sullivan. Have heard from many saying same thing. Maybe they could form a Never-Had-a-Toothache club and march in the parade at the next dentists' convention . . . A New York City government official retired on a pension of $12,000 a year! Is is being said of all the working girls a waitress has the best chance of landing a husband. Nurses are second, private secretaries third.

WOMEN LEGISLATORS continue to increase, particularly in New England. Feminine legislators spend most of their time trying to put over laws favorable to women. Though elected and paid salaries to represent both men and women, the lady lawmakers seem to think their sole duty is to protect and advance the interests of the female of the species.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- -:- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, April 18—It is nice to be home again! From the cheerful sound of my husband's voice when he greeted me, the pleasant smile on everybody's face, I enjoyed the happy feeling of welcome, but I didn't have long to dwell upon it.

Arriving four hours late in the morning, meant hurrying to catch up most of the day. I started with a press conference at 11 o'clock and then went up to lunch with the Senate ladies.

Once every year they invite me with the ladies of the cabinet to their weekly lunch. It is one of those affairs where the table is covered with good things to eat and one eats far more than one should.

THE LADIES of the Senate spend one morning a week sewing for the Red Cross and the amount which they have accomplished seems phenomenal. The report was read at luncheon Tuesday and some of the work was on exhibition. I looked at it with interest, for the garments seemed to me much more attractive than the clothes I have seen made in the past.

Mrs. Morgenthau drove home with me, which gave me a chance to see her. When you have been as far as Miss Thompson and I have been in three weeks, one feels as though one hadn't seen friends or family for an age and it is a joy to catch up again.

At 4 o'clock Mrs. Holm and I went up to the Home for Incurables, where a new wing was dedicated with simple ceremonies.

In Washington this home has done an extraordinary piece of work, for there are only two institutions where these unfortunates can be cared for. Afterward we stopped for a minute to say a word of greeting to Bishop and Mrs. Freeman, who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, and then we looked in at the Wesley Hall Gallery on K st. where Naomi Lorne has an exhibition of paintings which will be open until the 23d.

She has a great feeling for the bare winter trees and some of her scenes of the winter woods are very delightful. So are her paintings of the rocks with a sea which looks just as I know it on the coast of Maine.

I returned to the White House and found Mlle. Curie, Mrs. Lewis Thompson and Dr. Miriam Van Waters all having tea. A brief talk with Mr. John Elliott and Mr. Bart Andress and then the pleasure of a dinner at home with a talk about all the happenings of the world.

I THINK this is one of the things I miss most when I am away, that evening opportunity of discussing with the President and anyone else around the dinner table, the events of the day.

It was good, too, to telephone our son, Franklin, Jr., and hear that Ethel would be home this week-end.

HUMAN SIDE of the NEWS

By EDWIN C. HILL

WHEN THE CITY COUNCIL of Bristow, Okla., passed a law that peanuts must be served at every meal at local restaurants, one of the councilmen argued that, since monkeys liked peanuts and men sprang from monkeys, they should be wholesome, and hence, mandatory food for humans. That was presumably on the theory that what was good enough for grandfather is good enough for me. The new law was in furtherance of Bristow's aspiration to become the "peanut capital of the Southwest."

THERE WOULD seem to be a conflict here between progress and retrogression. A flourishing new capital or "bowl," with perhaps a winning football team looks like a go-ahead idea, but the Simian cut-back might be something else again, although not necessarily. There's a lot of monkey business in goings-on around the country these days and perhaps we are just working up a diet to match. One wonders what the Supreme Court will do with the test case of the restaurant man who says the devil with the peanuts, or something like that. You never can tell. The last time we were in Washington, we noticed that charming statue of Puck, in front of the Folger Shakespeare Memorial Building. It looks right smack into the noble colonnade of the Supreme Court Building and on its base is inscribed, "What fools these mortals be!" Signifying no lack of respect for the court, of course, but a citation of what it has to put up with.

THERE ARE so many marvels and portents in the news these days that one finds himself giving them just a desultory once-over. We would be quite daft if we tried to "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest them." Spearing one at random, here's this tale of the black crow that perched over the diplomatic entrance of the State Department building on the day of perhaps the most critical naval battle in history—a day of shrouded destiny for America as well. As the envoys of England, Germany, Denmark and Norway passed in, successively, he gave each a loud and derisive "caw." Rome had the jumping jitters when "the lion whelped in the streets" at a time like this, even though the news didn't get around as it does now. There's no knowing what would have happened if they had newspapers and radio.

BY AND LARGE, we aren't hex-ridden any more, even if we do keep on dealing each other more complicated misery. The stock market ignored the ominous crow. Matters of state moved on through channels. No reporter's hand trembled as he pegged out his story. One theory advanced in Washington was that the crow was a Nazi propagandist, trying to throw a scare into us. We venture a couple of other suggestions. One was that he was trying to remind us that it is just a short crow-hop from Greenland to the North American mainland. Another that he was putting on an act like the geese who cackled and saved Rome. Since he was ribbing only foreign diplomats, German and French included, he was clearly conveying a message of aloofness and isolation.

ROSALIND RUSSELL IN COMEDY

By Louella O. Parsons

Rosalind Russell

HOLLYWOOD, April 18—Well, here is a surprise! Rosalind Russell, who hurried back from New York because M-G-M wanted her for a picture, will go to Warners for the Katharine Cornell role in S. N. Behrman's "No Time for Comedy!" She is to be co-starred with Jimmy Stewart, who has the part that Laurence Olivier played on the stage.

MARLENE DIETRICH, who had been seriously considered for the Behrman play, will probably be given either "The House On the Hill" or another equally important picture.

If Rosalind finishes the Warner assignment in time she will go to Universal to emote in "Hired Wife," with William Seiter directing, and with Brian Aherne co-starred.

BONITA GRANVILLE

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Dolores Del Rio and Fred Perry dining tete-a-tete at the Victor Hugo and acting as if they enjoyed each other's society; Estelle Taylor, looking not very much older than when she was wed to Jack Dempsey, lunching at the Beverly Derby; the fans giving Bonita Granville and Jackie Cooper a royal reception at the "Two Girls On Broadway" preview; Max Wilkinson, editor of Collier's, lunching with some of our best Hollywood writing talent at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

H. R. KNICKERBOCKER will get many of the film folk at his lecture Friday night, Elsa Maxwell, Jack Warner, the Jules Steins, Gregory Ratoff and Walter Van Pelt, listening fascinated to his accounts of the Munich putsch, which he covered for the Hearst newspapers; Bette Davis won't have time for that Honolulu jaunt. She starts "The Letter" in a few weeks; Charles Boyer leaves for New York Thursday and it's my guess he will meet his mother, who has been in France.

THAT WAS June Duprez with Bob Taplinger and Mrs. Orson Welles with Charlie Lederer at the Cafe Lamaze; the Sam Goldwyns and the William Paleys are Jay Paley's guests at Arrowhead Springs; Paulette Goddard is booked to play doubles with Bill Tilden at the Ambassador charity tennis matches Sunday; Hal Roach is toying with the idea of producing "Lysistrata," a Greek play laid in 411 B. C. He is discussing the idea with Rouben Mamoulian. The plot might not be bad today for the play which was produced successfully on the stage, shows the Greek women having nothing to do with their husbands when they return from war, thus putting an end to 20 years of warfare.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

A GREY BUILDING of stone and steel loomed up through the dullness of a rainy day in a well-known mid-western town.

Inside the occupant of a small gloomy chamber on the second floor was deep in thought.

Well, they had predicted that he would wind up here.

He could still hear the teacher he had had in school warning him.

Yeah—she'd sure get a kick if she could see him now. She had told him all right, with the whole class listening. He wondered what made him think of things that had happened so long ago.

HE GLANCED about him nervously, fixing his gaze on a door a short distance away. He'd go through there in a minute, well he'd show them.

He wondered what it was like. If he only had some idea it might not be so bad . . . Why did it have to be him anyway. Why hadn't it been one of the others, but they'd probably get it yet. You couldn't get away with it forever.

He thought restlessly of the others that had gone through the door, all to the same fate. Well he'd be the next, but he'd show em.

Suddenly, a low hum reverberated through the room. That would be the guy that had been ahead of him. He'd be next . . . it wouldn't be long now.

He lit a cigarette, trying desperately to steady himself.

They said that it didn't take very long, it would be him any second.

THE DOOR slowly opened. "It's time," he thought wildly.

A lean, scholarly looking man entered. He held a black book in his hand, the pages of which he was turning slowly.

The occupant of the small room got up, dropping his cigarette from nerveless fingers . . . now for it . . . take it easy . . . show em.

The man stopped in front of him . . . "Are you ready?" he said in a low voice.

The other nodded dumbly as he started slowly for the door.

Behind him the scholarly looking man followed, wondering idly as he closed his appointment book why all schoolboys have such a fear of having their teeth pulled.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

E. V. DURLING—grand columnist! But what a hound that boy is for punishment! Does he go crashing in to any of the ordinary mortal risks such as death by fire, flood or the electric chair? Not E. V. He wants a special and spectacular suicide. So he tackles—of all things!—the current mode of WOMEN'S SHORT SKIRTS!

Says right out loud in public print that if you haven't got the proper underpinnings, sister, you'd better lengthen your hems.

ALL RIGHT, E. V., you asked for it! Nevertheless, as one who admires your nerve—and isn't so keen herself on all this promiscuous shin-show—I'm coming to your defense. So here, sisters, is where you get it from one of the union.

The old ankle can still stand a 16-inch hem, if I do so say it myself. But even if it can stand it it isn't getting it. For I just happen to be topped at the other end by an equally agile bean that refuses to be regimented by any fashion dictator.

American fashions are the finest and most sensible in the world.

You don't HAVE TO take "what they give you to be stylish." You can choose clothes suited to your age, girth and gait—if you wish. And be as charming and well groomed as any woman in the picture.

But the trouble is that most of you girls don't want something suited to your age—or avoirdupois. You've got a yen to be a Shirley Temple, at least, or a Vivien Leigh. So you go out and buy yourself something that suits this dream fantasy—and then blame it on the Women's Garment Department.

I DOUBT if there is any sillier or more inconsistent spectacle on earth than the deliberate, voluntary fashion and beauty regimentation of American women. No women on earth have more freedom and privileges than we Americans—or yell about 'em louder.

YET WE DRESS OUR HAIR AND SHAPES AS IF WE WERE IN A EUROPEAN CONCENTRATION CAMP UNDER MILITARY ORDERS TO LOOK LIKE A LOT OF ROBOTS—OR ELSE.

If one of us wears curls, we all wear curls, whether our faces resemble marshmallows or a strip of macadam.

So there's the low-down on your fashion fret, sweetheart. And the next time you try to kid a male columnist just be sure a female one isn't listening in.

'Virginia City,' Western Epic, on Para-Fenway Screens

Plenty of Acion in Film

Action, romance and plenty o'trigger business enlivens "Virginia City," Warners' latest glorifid Western co-starring Miriam Hopkins and Errol Flynn now ureeling on the Paramount and Fenway screens.

Most of the picture's shootin' is about the cache of $5,000,000 in gold bullion which Confederate sympathizers are reported to have offered to the Southern cause during the Civil War.

Briefly, the trick is how to sneak it out of Nevada and through the Union lines. Flynn is the lad to thwart it. He and fellow Union natives in Libby prison escape in time to foil the Confederate gold-diggers.

There is a little counter-romance involving Miss Hopkins, singer in a Virginia City saloon doubling as a rebel spy. She loves Flynn, but betrays him in the name of patriotism after a duly agonizing interval of deciding between love and duty.

She wins him eventually—and they both deserve it. Randolph Scott was the other man and much too attractive to be anything but THE man. But Miriam thought otherwise, ah me!

MIRIAM HOPKINS and Errol Flynn in a tense scene from the thrilling Western, "Virginia City," now showing at the Paramount and Fenway. The film packs plenty of action for lovers of Wild West stories.

'BACCHANALE' POPULAR WITH BALLET RUSSE PATRONS

Danilova Gets Ovation

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Bacchanale," the hellzapoppin of ballet, was presented for the first time at the Boston Opera House last night by the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

Olsen and Johnson weren't even missed. Salvatore Dali's surrealistic splurge into the fantastic produced the more weird results. Even Nijinsky in his maddest designs couldn't have paralleled the welsh rabbit dream Dali has conceived.

The protagonist of the work is Mad King Louis II of Bavaria, but his royal highness seemed remarkably sane in an othewise berserk bit of Bedlam.

There was nothing graceful about the three Graces; more appropriately Graces after meals.

Mr. Dali has appended an interpretation of Bacchanale that is even more confusing than the ballet.

"Gaite Parisienne" brought back Alexandra Danilvo, who received ovations both at her first appearance and final bow. We have yet to see Danilova dance badly, and she was at her very best last night.

It is a common foible today, on the part of the modern ballet to [illegible] the beauty of the classical ballet. We wish that Martha Graham, Mary Wigman, the Denishawnees et al who have openly ridiculed "Sylphides," "Giselle" etc. could have been present at the Opera House last evening.

Tier after tier of delighted, applauding, ballet lovers greeted "Slyphides" and "Spectre de la Rose" vociferously and to great length. In fact, after viewing the brilliant elevations, miming and dancing of last night, most of the modern dancing schools seem to exist only as a Home for the Aged and Tired Ballet Stars.

Alice Markova opened the evening's performance in "Les Sylphides." This is no difficult work; in fact the most important element is the miming. Markovas expression was wistful, tender, well in order with this dreamy, other-worldly poem. The English Pawlova gave a beautifully balance performance.

Mia Slavenska was the embodiment of maidenly innocence, the dreamy, unawakened girl, in the romantic fantasy "Spectre de la Rose"; Igor Youskevitch, a masculine, mercury-footed "Rose."

'Road to Singapore' For Uptown Screen

A new comedy teaming that should become chronic is Bing Crosby and Bob Hope in "The Road to Singapore," which moves over to the Uptown screen tomorrow. Dorothy Lamour avec sarong is the romantic menace to their palship. The second feature, "My Little Chickadee," represents another example of provocative pairing in W. C. Fields and Mae West.

She knows that April showers bring May flowers . . . so Baby Sandy is doing her share toward promoting those April wettings. Two-year-old Sandy, Hollywood's youngest screen star, has just finished her first starring picture, Universal's "Sandy Is a Lady."

Jungle Thrills At Trans-Lux

A fantastic and little known provision of the Versailles Treaty is the basis for Universal's adventure drama, "Zanzibar," which comes to Trans-Lux screen tomorrow with Lola Lane, James Craig and Eduardo Ciannelli in featured roles.

Lifted intact from the world-famous document, the provision commanded that the sacred skull of an African sultan which was removed from German East Africa be turned over to the British government.

Described as an ideal theme for thrilling action drama, the story presents Miss Lane as a noted woman explorer seeking to find the skull in Africa and restore the religious symbol to its rightful tribe and bring an end to savage uprisings.

Although in real life the skull has never been found, the film shows it being located by Miss Lane with the help of Craig, who portrays a young American adventurer. Ciannelli has the role of a foreign spy.

Action highlights in the picture include battles between whites and natives.

The companion feature is "The Face Behind the Seal."

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THE ANNUAL MEMBERS' exhibit at the Junior League reveals all sorts of hidden talents among our erstwhile social butterflies . . . and gives the visitor a number of excellent ideas on how to spend leisure time for both pleasure and profit . . .

For instance, in addition to the large exhibit of paintings and sculpture, one room is devoted entirely to handiwork, book binding, hand made furniture, dress designs and examples of photography . . .

Even with all the activities of her crowded life as a debutante, Priscilla Alden Crocker finds time to make oil painted screens, suitable for brightening a dark corner or covering an unsightly door . . . She takes orders for them and judging by the pricetag on the one exhibited earns generous pin money with her talent . . . She and her mother attended the opening of the exhibit yesterday, sipping tea and modestly acknowledging all the admiring comments . . . Priscilla, a dark haired, vivacious debutante, wore a novel Tyrolean outfit of dove gray with a pointed coat like a mess jacket and a peaked hat of the same material . . . Mrs. Crocker chose a black ensemble with yellow wings brightening her hat . . .

Win Awards With Their Work

THE MEN ON CHARLOTTE WOOD'S Christmas list must hope she will give them her lovely hand woven woolen scarves with which she won special awards in the current exhibit . . . Patty Spencer spends some of her spare time making adorable needlepoint mules, and while in Italy last winter Helen Claflin learned the art of Florentine leather bookbinding with which she won special awards . . .

Mrs. C. Campbell Patterson continues to take her camera everywhere she goes and like last year, came off with top honors in the photography exhibit . . . Her first prize was for a beautiful little composition entitled "Noel, Noel" showing Christmas angels and lighted candles in an artistic arrangement . . . The second was of a soaring eagle against a clouded sky . . . Laurie B. Vance, Carrie Neal Augustine, Mrs. Arthur Dupee, Jr., Mrs. William A. Burnham, Jr., and Laura Robbins, are other candid camera fans exhibiting in the current show . . .

It's nothing new for M. Louise Reggio to win prizes for her hand made jewelry but this year she has keen competition in Alexandrine McKennan who is exhibiting some really lovely lapis lazuli braclets and silver earrings . . .

Molly Ayer's scene of Louisburg square won first prize in the water colors . . . her design for a dinner gown attracted a special award, and her costume for the opening tea would have won the approval of a jury of fashion experts . . . A design of her own, it was a powder blue tweed suit made with a rather feminine jacket and jaunty sailor hat of the same fabric with long red streamers . . .

Sculpture Prize to Mrs. Tatlock

MRS. HUGH TATLOCK, winner of first prize for her sculpture of a Belgian mare and foal, toured the gallery with Mary Van Ness, another of the League's talented members . . . Though entitled "Portrait Study," Betty Reece's portrait of Amabel Eshleman was so lifelike there was no mistaking the identity of the subject . . . and another portrait causing considerable comment was the one of Priscilla Hedge painted by Margaret Farnsworth . . .

A charming little painting of a couple of rag dolls, done by Betty Blake, attracted the attention of everyone touring the gallery and Ruth Edmands' pottery figures of waltzers won first prize in the ceramics group . . . Ruth herself took a turn pouring tea at the flower laden table where everyone gathered to talk over the entries . . . Her dress, a springlike model of gray with a white pencil stripe and white collar and cuffs . . .

Mrs. William Hunt (Rosamond Pier), who recently held her first one-man show, poured for a little while and others enjoying the opening included Reinette Plimpton with her mother, Mrs. T. Barnet Plimpton, Mrs. Howard Wheeler, Mrs. Frank Knowlton, Nancy Peabody, Mrs. William Bump, Sylvia Van Ness, Mrs. Edward Bond, Jr., Mrs. Charles L. J. Nobel, Gail Neilson and Gerry Field, president of the League.

Entertains In Milton

Boston Evening American Photo

DOROTHY GANNETT, photographed at a recent costume party with Endicott Peabody, 2d, grandson and namesake of the famous clergyman, will be hostess at a novel "housecooling" party tomorrow evening. It will take place at the Milton home of her mother, Mrs. Paul Hamlen, who is soon closing the house to move to her estate in Wayland.

Alumni Plan Supper Dance

After cheering themselves hoarse for the success of the Syracuse University crew, which will ply the waters of the historic Charles in intercollegiate races April 27, Syracuse alumni in Boston will celebrate at a festive buffet supper and dance at 118 Beacon st.

Grover Kingsley of Wellesley is general chairman of the party, and assisting him on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Erskine, chairmen of tickets and entertainment; Julien T. Williams, promotion, and Mrs. A. Blaine Canfield, publicity.

Members of the general committee include Mrs. Archibold Payne, Mrs. Robert E. Mulligan, A. T. Kalvin, Mrs. Francis J. Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Hoople, Ralph Browne, Glenn Arnold, Hume Deming, Mrs. Nelson Coon, Jack Lucier, Jack Clements, Everett Stone, Don Moyer, Lew Gordon, Mrs. Grover Kingsley, Mrs. Julien Williams, Mrs. Eugene Smith, Mrs. Morris P. Capen, Mrs. Henry Guernsey and Charles Whiteside.

NEW YORK VISITOR

Mrs. Charles L. Bingham of Longwood Towers has been visiting at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Rummage Sale Next Month

Taking advantage of spring housecleaning season when housewives discard a lot of unused articles, charity committees are planning rummage sales by the dozen to raise funds for their special causes.

The latest to be added to the long list of such affairs is a rummage sale in Horticultural Hall, May 10, under auspices of the Faulkner Hospital Aid Association. Daily all sorts of bundles containing clothing, books, silverware, furniture, etc., are being delivered at the home of Mrs. Edward L. Young, who is co-chairman of the sale with Mrs. Franklin C. Jillson.

Notre Dame Dance Soon

Marie Colpoys of Dorchester heads the planning committee for the Roxbury Academy of Notre Dame's pop concert and supper dance . . . slated for Friday evening, May 10, at the Copley-Plaza.

Mrs. Francis J. Roland . . . president of the Boston Alumnae of Notre Dame . . . is co-chairman of the gala event. In charge of reservations is Mrs. Paul J. Markey of West Roxbury, assisted by Mrs. William S. Casey, Brookline; Mrs. Bernard S. McNamara and Elinor Crosby, Jamaica Plain; Margaret Reid, Quincy, and Mrs. Edward Breen, Medford.

Mrs. David L. Murphy of Milton is directing the ticket sale . . . assisted by Helen Amrhein, Roxbury; Marjorie Patten and Dorothy Killion, Dorchester, and Helen Martineau, Brookline. Mrs. Walter J. Rooney chairmans the entertainment committee, assisted by Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, Jr., Milton; Mrs. Felix Forte, Belmont, and Mrs. Henry E. Foley, Hyde Park.

Belmont Cast In Comedy

"Her Husband's Wife" . . . a comedy in three acts . . . will be presented by members of St. Joseph's Assembly tomorrow evening in Belmont Town Hall, under the direction of Joseph I. Whalen.

The cast includes John M. O'Brien, Margaret Gibson, Albert J. Dwyer, Ethel C. Haviland, Mrs. Ann G. Hennessey and Robert J. Curry

Assisting in the production are Mrs. Elsie K. Meade, Mrs. Margaret Brine, Mrs. Eleanor Neal, Louise Levack, Jane Grady, Mrs. Eleanor Sullivan, Ellen McCarthy, Mrs. Agnes McGreenery, Leslie Neal, Edmund Curry, Robert A. Grewer, Thomas F. Neal, and Charles H. Lawrence, and Ruth E. Haviland.

Saltonstall Kin to Wed

Cecelia Drinker of Merion, Pa., whose engagement to Dr. Henry Saltonstall of Milton was announced last week, has already decided upon July 27 as the date for her marriage.

The wedding will be a small family affair at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Drinker, and following their honeymoon the couple will live in Philadelphia where the prospective bridegroom is an interne at the Pennsylvania Hospital.

Dress Up Your Vegetables

By MARTHA LEE

Do members of your family have an aversion to certain vegetables, or perhaps most of them? Do you have to "sell" them the idea that they should eat this and that—not necessarily the children, but the grownups, too?

Then it's time to do something about it. Try dressing up the vegetables a little—or adding something that will enhance their flavor or make them more appealing to the eye.

TURNIP EN CASSEROLE

For instance, if yellow turnip is being ignored by your household, try it some time en casserole. Dice the turnip, season with salt and pepper and sugar, add butter and a bouillon cube or stock—and you will find you have an entirely new dish with a delightful flavor. The addition of sugar and stock subdue the strong flavor of turnip that is sometimes objectionable.

Carrots, too, are particularly good well seasoned, a bouillon cube added and baked en casserole.

You might add chopped raw onions to the mashed potatoes, or sprinkle a dash of nutmeg over the top of them, or serve them scalloped for a change.

Try cooking string beans with bacon.

Here are a few suggestions that will help the vegetables to sell themselves to the family.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

1 qt. sliced raw potatoes
1 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. flour
1½ tsp. salt
Pepper
1 cup irradiated evaporated milk, and 1 cup water mixed

Place a layer of potatoes in a buttered baking dish. Dot with butter, sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper. Repeat. Pour diluted milk over all. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) until potatoes are tender, about 45 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Note: One-half cup of grated cheese may be added with the flour and seasonings.

CHOW TAO

1½ lbs. string beans
⅓ lb. pork, thinly sliced
1 tsp. chopped raw ginger
1 tbsp. fat
Salt and pepped
Soy sauce

Break beans in 1½ inch pieces and boil 10 minutes. Fry pork and ginger until browned, add to beans and cook slowly 15 minutes longer. Serve with soy sauce. Makes 6 servings.

THESE SCALLOPED POTATOES will sell themselves to the family who doesn't like vegetables. The recipe for preparing them appears in Martha Lee's column today.

FRENCH FRIED ONION RINGS

4 large mild onions
½ cup milk
½ cup flour
¼ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper

Wash and peel onions; slice ¼ inch thick and separate slices into rings. Dip into milk and then into flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Fry in hot deep fat (380 deg. F.) for four to six minutes, or until lightly browned; drain on unglazed paper. Makes six servings

COUNTRY STYLE PEAS

3 small carrots, diced
½ cup shredded cabbage
2 tbsp. melted butter
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 cup chicken bouillon
2 cups shelled peas
½ head lettuce, finely shredded

Add carrots and cabbage to melted butter, cook two minutes, add seasonings, bouillon and peas. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes, adding lettuce during last five minutes Makes six servings.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Thursday, April 18

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are naturally kind and sympathetic though sometimes so quick in speech and action the opposite impression is given. Your whole makeup spells action and spirited animation. You should always guard against extremes and being swayed by those who would flatter you. We doubt if you will ever be uninteresting or nimby-pamby. You owe it to yourself, your family and to society to develop your conversational ability. You can succeed when you really try.

LUCKY NUMBER—Today's lucky number is 37.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is strawberry pink.

Love and Marriage

Controlled Temper Helpful

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I wish the man who wrote to your column about the virago of a wife might know of our experience and see what a calm, good tempered man can do for a bad tempered woman.

When I first met my husband I had a vicious temper. He never fought back—just ignored me. He declined to speak a harsh word, although I deserved a-plenty. When I realized my temper wasn't getting me anywhere I calmed down.

We've been married three years and haven't had a blow-up for two. I feel better mentally and physically, as rage is a terrific poison not only to the soul but to the body as well.

A woman with a controlled temper makes a better wife than a dull, lazy woman with no nervous energy. Her controlled rages may be a driving force for good instead of destruction, and the love life of both be happy. U.

Men with wives who fly into rages would do well to clip this lady's letter and keep it in their bill-folds where it will reap an hundred-fold reward. Apply a controlled technique when the lady-wife is given to rages, and she'll not only eat out of your hand but adore you as well.

You Can Be Beautiful

Learn Color-Makeup Lesson

By ARLINE GOULD

PERHAPS you've been bewildered by so many new cosmetic colors to choose from . . . but the bewilderment isn't as bad as the results . . . what with a lipstick that should be worn with green looking ghastly with forget-me-not blue . . . and poor little you losing out as a consequence, through no fault of your own!

With visions of preventing such glamour-loss an extremely clever French parfumeur has just brought out a darling of a tailored shantung purse kit . . . and really, it's an unbelievable buy.

We look at the wonderful plastic compacts for powder and rouge in it, and the lipstick, and the beautifully made compartment-kit that you'll adore in your purse, and wonder just how it can be sold for $1.50, complete! The plastic compacts are magnolia, white decorated with a gold sunburst motif.

Here is where the cleverness that impresses us so comes in . . . whatever color you choose to wear, there is a kit covered in the approximate shade, in which the absolutely correct make-up is all assembled . . . the gauzy, expensive French powder, the wonderful creamy lipstick, and the fine textured rouge . . . and a big powder puff soft as a spring chick! Room for your own knickknacks, too!

Blue shades are springtime's darlings, so you certainly will want the blue kit. For shades of green there is a green kit. In each kit the color ensemble of the cosmetics varies, so your complexion will be enhanced . . . like a perfect setting for a jewel. There are eight kits, including beige for the so-chic neutral tones, gray for gray, a pink kit for all pastel costumes, so your face will look like a Killarney rose, and a red and white and a blue and white kit for sports costumes.

If you'd like to learn about this fabric purse kit with cosmetics ensembled for every color . . . one of spring's best buys, including powder and rouge in plastic cases, lipstick and down puff, all for $1.50 . . . phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday until 5:30, or write, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bouillon Cup

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—Will you please tell me if it is good form to drink soup from a bouillon cup, and if so, should both hands be used?

2—When dining with a gentleman, should he sit to my right or left? IN DOUBT

1—First we take a few sips of the soup, with the bouillon spoon or tea spoon, to test the heat of the soup, and then we drink the rest of the soup from the cup, as we would drink tea. And we take up the bouillon cup with the right hand, as we lift the tea cup.

2—"The lady on the right of the gentleman" is the usual rule.

Famed Fountain Shut Off Until—

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP) —The fountain at the Rockefeller center statue of Prometheus, known to tourists from all over the country, was not turned on day because two sets of birds were nesting there.

Workmen, preparing to turn on the water, found the nests and Nelson Rockefeller, president of the center, ordered that they were not to be disturbed until the eggs hatched, which will be some time in May.

BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

ATTENTION PROVIDENCE—EXCLUSIVE: . . . Battle lines are drawn and a record-size war chest has the top off "for contributions" as Rhode Island Democrats mobilize to reclaim the smallest state this fall . . .

The current "wire tapping" probe and the asserted harm it has done Gov. Vanderbilt has sent the Democrats' hopes soaring . . . But the bombshell soon to be exploded is the identity of the Democrats' standard bearer . . . He is U. S. Atty. Howard McGrath—it has just been decided. Mr. McGrath will have the backing of U. S. Senators Gerry (D.) and Green (D.), a pair of heavy guns in any sort of a Rhode Island political contest.

He will also have the support of numerous Democratic Mr. Bigs from Massachusetts, who will extend such help as they can . . . McGrath is a Farley man . . . This column would not be startled if the McGrath announcement of candidacy, a political 1000-pound bomb, falls on the assembly Sunday night in Boston of Farley enthusiasts from all parts of New England—at the Copley-Plaza.

HARVARD STUDENTS WHO FLOCKED around Kitty Kallen, Jack Teagarden's pretty vocalist while Kitty was at the Southland, may be disappointed to learn that Miss Kallen is a bride of a week . . . Of interest to thousands of Cape Cod youths of both sexes will be the news that Colin Ross has taken over the Barclay at West Falmouth and will open May 20 with Don McLeod's band Several interests were in the bidding for the Barclay this year . . . Please hear (and see) Joe E. Lewis doing "The Man With a Mandolin" in a tongue-in-cheek arrangement. Mr. L. is at the Mayfair.

DOMINICK DI MAGGIO

DOM DI MAGGIO OF THE RED SOX should drop over to Jamaica, Long Island, and meet Miss Gloria King . . . While the Bosox, which is the out-of-town name for the Yawkeys, are playing the Yankees, Miss King will be headlining at the New Jamaica Theater . . . Dominick should take his big brother Joe along, for that matter, because "Gloria King's" real name is Gloria DiMaggio, and she is a first cousin of all the DiMaggios, and the daughter of a Brooklyn butcher.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: In the opinion of George Frazier, the novelette writer and New England's only accredited authority on swing-music, a colored lass named Elenora Andrews, who is singing at Alpini's, is an artist of the first rank . . . Mr. Frazier does not go "overboard" in judging swing or jazz in its various manifestations, and he is similarly conservative in expressing an opinion of talent . . . "This girl," he says, "is one of the two or three finest colored singers anywhere" . . . That would place Miss Andrews with Marian Anderson and Ethel Waters.

RANNY WEEKS may get another honor which will put him a move or two nearer the king row in popular music . . . word is out that Ranny's band is going to be chosen "the band of the week," and that the announcement will be made to coincide with a week he is now holding open to "jump" from the Boston Mayfair to the Hotel Rice in Houston, Texas . . . The honor is not an "empty" honor . . . With it goes a week's engagement at the Hotel New Yorker, and six radio "shots" (coast-to-coast) in the week . . . Lew Bonick's orchestra will follow the Weeks men to the Mayfair's podium, by the way . . . And that will delight Sophie Tucker, who uses an orchestral accompaniment for her exits and entrances . . . Maestro Bonick has the knack, and the earned reputation, of being able "to play a show" . . . This talent is not given to many of the popular orchestra leaders whose forte is playing for group dancing.

RANNY WEEKS

JOHN "BUD" REILLY, THE WMEX executive, will be sent on his merry way to matrimony by a bunch of the boys who expect to be whopping it up at Hotel Manger tonight.

CHATTER: One of the time-serving number pool "Barons" scored a $1400 hit from the jail house; tenancy in which has changed him—for the time being, and he got a year—from an operator to a player.

AUSTEN LAKE

Kind Word for the Marathon Hacks

TOMORROW AT THE EXACT STROKE OF NOON comes that unbelievable saturnalia of Spring sport, the B. A. A. marathon. It is, by all odds, the biggest, freest and goofiest spectacle of the year with a million people fringing the highways between Hopkinton and Exeter st. to examine the sufferings of 198 clinical oddities without paying a nickel.

AUSTEN LAKE

Still, in my sight the human picture is not the broad panorama of front runners as they twitch and squirm away from the main herd while the untalented hacks trail away in a long comet tail to the rear. The best human picture is the milling ant heap scene before the race when broad-faced and leathery men overflow the cottage at Tebeau Farm in Hopkinton and fit on their race lingerie and canvas slippers. There, jammed together like salmon spawn in a mountain rill, the heterogeneous mob struts a little hour before going out to woo sick-stomach, thigh cramps and the sound of frying fat in their skulls.

There is a commingled stench of rubbing oils, stale perspiration, the sickish sweets of cookery and a babble of strange tongues. For these are people who harness for the horrors—skins of every shade from licorice black to skimmed milk, kids with school-girl complexions, bald and silver topped elders, fat boys with cushioned stomachs, skinny ones with flamingo legs.

THE TRUE SCENE IS THE GYPSY CARNIVAL in a country barnyard where relatives of the athletic artisans crowd like herring in a pale tin—plain faced people with high hope in their eyes and wearing holiday homespun. Wholesome folk near to nature. Earth-bound people with frames thick from generations of bearing peasant burdens.

There is a social rating even hee in sport's most plegian event. The veteran road-horses of former marathons stand apart from the unknown nags, herding with their athletic equals and ignoring the "upstarts" or viewing them bleakly. Royalty in sport has always regarded the steaming masses thus!

No! I have never considered the best human picture the finish line at Exeter st. where the waiting horde hails the winners. It is the roadside start at the instant the human pack comes clawing and clattering as though the race was a picnic romp instead of sport's most gruelling grind—26 miles over ruts and concrete, over long flats and humpbacked hills, between auto wheels and the bottle necks of craning crowds. Then for a brief flash, the unsung hacks gallop wildly and snatch at glory's coattails before falling back to nurse their aches.

For always some shaggy youth pulls away far to the front, causing the crowd at Framingham to thumb its programs to identify his number. Last year it was a lad with 128 on his back, who pounded along with a bouncy stride until suddenly he sat down with a burning stab under his heart, his moment of glory over for another year.

WHY DO THESE UNGIFTED VETERANS OF annual failure—the Eddie Lyons, Charley Marshes, Christopher Boleks, Marty Fitzpatricks, Carlos Whitlocks, and Sam Ouelette shuffle off to Hopkinton each Patriots' Day for sport's supreme sacrifice, knowing beforehand that the field will be dominated by some dozen front runners—Leslie Pawson, Tarzan Brown, Johnny Kelley, Gerard Cote, Clarence DeMar..

Why? I think I can tell you!

Because this is their annual Moment and the year long dream of their workaday lives. Because it offers a momentary escape from obscurity and furnishes a 12-months topic of talk. Because it is a social leg-up in their communities and a remote, whispy chance for celebrity.

Among them are curiosities like Carlos Whitlock, the Barre, Vt., preacher; like Eddie Lyons, the Brookline letter carrier, who used to call himself the "Camp Devens Nut." But this year Johnny "Cigars" Connors and Bill "Tobacco" Enos, who formerly flatfooted the distance

BAGBY STARTS COMEBACK AS SOX SHOOT FOR 2D WIN

By JOE CASHMAN

WASHINGTON, April 18—James Bagby, Jr., hits the comeback trail today.

It seems rather odd to be saying that about a guy who is in his early twenties and never has had a sore arm, but it's true nonetheless.

JIM BAGBY
Hurls Against Senators

Two years back "Junior" came in from Scranton to be the prize freshman flinger of the campaign as he won 15 games for the Sox, including the season's inaugural.

Like so many rookies before him, he returned last spring entertaining the erroneous notion that he knew all there was to know about pitching and could get by on nothing more than his yearling reputation. Before he realized his mistake, he found himself in the bushes again.

Now, repentant and anxious to make amends, he's back with the varsity and today, facing the Senators in the second and final game of this abbreviated series, he embarks on a journey which he hopes will lead him back to the heights he scaled in '38 and toppled from last summer.

SPRING SENSATION

Judging from his showing in the Southland, he'll do better than that. He's flashed more stuff this spring than he ever did as a freshman sensation.

In fact, next to Emerson Dickman, he was the most effective of the Sox slingers.

But that was in meaningless melees.

The acid test for this pitching son of a famous pitching father starts today.

LOOMS A 20-GAME WINNER

The outcome is of vital concern to the Sox, because Jimmy would appear to have a chance of being one of the two 20-victory pitchers Joe Cronin opines he must find if the Hose are to dethrone the Yanks.

Incidentally, the work of Bagby's antagonist today is also awaited with keen interest.

For "Bucky" Harris, Nat's pilot, has decided to let Sid Hudson make his major league debut

LACKS EXPERIENCE

This tyro is attempting to make a jump which, if memory serves correctly, no pitcher now active in big company has negotiated.

An elongated right-hander who stands 6:4, Hudson is up directly from the Class D Florida State League, where he won 24 games last year.

Despite that star-spangled rec ord, it's really astounding that he's shown enough to get this opportunity to make the grade, and it will be far more astounding if he can overcome the handicap of inexperience and stay up this year.

Bowling Champs Crowned Saturday

The final touch to the fifth annual American-Record-Advertiser diamond medal bowling championships takes place at the Huntington alleys next Saturday night with the awarding of all prizes and the rolloff in the men's open singles.

After three days of careful checking, Jack Stafford has found the winners eligible for the terrific prizes which will be awarded.

The presentations take place at 8 o'clock and immediately following this, the 22 candlepin standouts who survived the two eliminations will fight it out over 10 strings.

All open bowlers will receive cash awards while the amateur prizes include 22 diamond medals, 22 gold medals, 11 Elgin wrist watches, two trophies, two suits of clothes, two dresses, 22 silver medals and 100 bronze medals.

The prize winners are:

PHILLY-BOUND B'S RUSTY FROM RAIN

By BILL GRIMES

Although they have been home for a week, the Bees, due to the inclement weather, have not been able to play enough baseball to satisfy Manager Casey Stengel . . . They lost last Friday and Saturday and should have been idle o nthe Sabbath . . . They were unable to workout today before boarding a train for the Quaker where they will engage the Phillies in a three-game series over the week end . . . Dick Errickson will get the nod to burl the opener in Philadelphia and then Nick Strincevich will make his National League debut on Saturday and Joe Sullivan will toss his "butterfly" bal at the Phillies on Sunday.

Pres. Jim Kimball of the South Shore Country Club is recovering from a serious illness . . . During the winter the Oyster Harbors Club improved its course, accordingly to George W. Crittenden . . . Banks will be erected at the edges of the ponds at the sixth and ninth holes and no longer will slightly off line shots race down inclines into the water . . . Oyster Harbors is in mid-season condition and is getting a very heavy week-end play.

"Hap" Ellis, who has been ailing for some months expects to don a pair of spiked shoes and get out on the Oyster Harbors course as soon as the weather man favors this section with a little sunshine . . . Charlie MacAndrew, formerly of Wollaston, is now a year-round resident of Burlington, Vt. . . . "Chasa" is a great golfer—one of the best, according to the members of the Burlington Country Club—but he's a push-over for "Pop" Whitney bowling.

Recently, a very popular member of a certain Greater Boston golf club took aboard too much gas and the directors demanded his resignation . . . Apparently, they didn't realize the reaction, otherwise they would have allowed the affair to pass unnoticed, or with a slight reprimand . . . Their action brought about a threat from no less than 40 members to resign . . .

Manager Jack Onslow of the Hartford Bees has been flat on his back with the "flu" . . . He took off so much weight at Bradenton that when the flu bug clumbed aboard, Old Beanbag didn't have enough resistance to fight back and took the count . . . Joe Antolick, the Mad Russian with the wagging tongue, is hospitalized at Evansville . . . Joe, who is a real chatterbox catcher, got cracked up making a sensational catch of a foul ball during the Evansville-Toledo game.

There will be three Ralphs in the Hartford Bees' outfield, Hodgin, McLeod and Younker . . . Incidentally, Younker will drive Bill McElroy and Joe Gulledge to Trenton, N. J., tomorrow, where the trio will join the Hartford club . . . Gulledge is a pretty good looking third baseman but he has a fight on his hands trying to wrestle that berth from Paul Rampey, the young South Carolinian, who batted for .316 last year at Evansville.

Now that the Pittsburgh Pirates have sold Gene Handley, brother of their third baseman, to the St. Louis Cards who, in turn, shipped the youngster to Sacramento, Cal., the Hartford club owns every player on its roster . . . Joe Walsh, the former Brookline High School star who has been on and off the injured list with such marked regularity for two years that he didn't know whether he was going or coming, is now in perfect physical condition . . . He's playing short stop for Hartford and if he doesn't suffer a recurrence of his knee and arm ailment, Joe will be up with Casey Stengel's Bees next season and it's going to take a real shortstop to keep him out of the regular line up . . . Joe Walsh is not only a great shortstop but he can hit that pill at a .300 clip in anybody's league . . .

COLONIAL BEACON OIL COMPANY

IT WAS SUFFOLK Downs Day at Narragansett Park with Weston W. Adams' racing stable scoring two victories.

Adams' Warlaine turned in one of the finest performances at the opening of Narragansett Park . . . E. E. Russell told everybody at the track that Warlaine would win over Sadie F., Fair Time and the other sprinters entered, but few persons took his tip . . . As a result a great many people were talkng to themselves when the tote board showed a payoff of $16.90, $9.80, $5.60 on the Adams owned horse.

Whooper, also carrying Weston W. Adams colors, won the first race in a driving finish to return $44.60, $19.70, $9.70. Warlaine and Whooper raced at Santa Anita last Winter, and didn't win a race . . . Both horses were trained at Framingham this Spring, and apparently they do better in New England climate than when racing in sunny California.

R. A. Coward, who had some tough breaks with his racing stable at the Fair Grounds at New Orleans, celebrated his return to New England with two wins . . . Count Cotton won, while Sun Antioch beat Apropos and Brilliant Stone in one of the best finishes in the history of New England racing . . . The three horses were noses apart as they reached the finish . . . The services of Harry Day's camera were required to separate the horses.

The unfavorable weather conditions failed to keep down the enthusiasm of the crowd . . . King Thoroughbred was given a fine reception by the crowd . . . Bobby Ahearn dropped in from Chicago to se the races . . . Bobby is writing racing news for a Chicago magazine.

Horace Wade was in charge of the public address system, and gave racegoers a good account of the races . . . At Jamaica, there is not any public address system, and most of the fans do not know what happened until they see the numbers go up on the board . . . Babe Rubenstein was to broadcast the first race over the airlanes today from a position near the starter at the Puett gate . . . The Puett gate got the horses off without any unnecessary post delays.

PAUL JUNIOR, who clashes with Hammering Henry Armstrong in a 15-round bout for the world's welterweight championship at the Garden a week from Friday night, will be one of the richest boxers in the country by the time he retires.

During his ten years of fighting, Paul Junior has taken part in more than 300 bouts. He has earned close to $250,000 and has managed to put aside a liberal part of this money for the proverbial rainy day.

Paul Junior's most recent acquisition was an apartment block in Portland. The Maine boxer, like Lou Ambers, Joe Louis and other leading ring men, has also purchased several large annuities.

The Paul Junior earnings will go soaring in the Armstrong bout. The advance sale indicates that this show will draw $32,000. Paul Junior's share of the spoils will go between $5000 and $6000 while Armstrong will get $15,000. After rental and other expenses are paid Matchmaker Rip Valenti of the Goodwin Club will be satisfied if his profit amounts to $5000.

Valenti was anxious to bring big time boxing back to Boston, and so consented to give Armstrong the $15,000 guarantee he demanded. The Goodwin Club head feels that the interest in the Armstrong-Paul Junior tussle indicates that the town is ready to suppor top maches.

This may mean that later on Ceferino Garcia will come here to risk his middleweight crown against Henry Chmielewski, New England champion, and that outstanding opponents will be secured to meet Al McCoy, Tiger Warrenton and Joey Archibald. The latter hails from Providence and has the best claim to the world's featherweight crown.

* * *

MIKE JACOBS OF the Twentieth Century Club, and Joe Gould, manager of Jimmy Braddock, have made a secret deal that will probably end in the settlement of their legal difficulties. Gould sued Jacobs for money he claims due him as a result of a 20 per cent interest he received in the profits of the Twentieth Century Club at the time of the signing of the Braddock-Louis bout for Chicago. This agreement was for a ten-year period.

Under the contract Gould has already received $20,000 but he says he is still owed money by the Jacobs organization.

It has been significant that things began to happen to some of Jacobs' most important matches once he broke with Gould. The latter apparently had strength with certain managers who felt he had not been treated justly.

The most recent blast at Jacobs came from Henry Armstrong who sided with the forces asking for a Federal investigation of the Twentieth Century Club's monopoly of boxing. Jacobs hurried to Hot Springs, Ark. to confer with Armstrong and with Eddie Mead, his manager.

It is known that Jacobs wasn't pleased when Armstrong signed to box Paul Junior in Boston under the promotion of the Goodwin A. C. Jacobs in the past has tried to keep a finger in the Armstrong promotions.

It would help boxing if more champions emulated Armstrong, and signed for bouts with promoters in cities like Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and Los Angeles.

One of the things that has been the matter with boxing has been the fact that most champions have boxed only under the promotion of Jacobs and in many instances have had hand-picked opponents. The most recent glaring case of this kind was the Louis-Paychek farce. Paychek was the weakest opposition ever handed a heavyweight champion.

FORDHAM AT B. C. TOMORROW

Freddie Maguire and his Boston College baseball team will attempt to open their season again tomorrow afternoon at Alumni Field against the Bronx Rams of Fordham. Thwarted when they attempted to pry the season's lid last Saturday, the Chestnut Hill Eagles led by Capt. Frank "Bunzo" Burns, the Roslindale rifler, will do what Boston College diamond units of the past couple of decades have done—open the season with an engagement with the Bronx busters.

The game will be the feature events on the annual Fathers' Day program conducted by the graduating class.

Like the rest of the diamond artists in town—both amateur and professional—the Maguire Eagles have been bog-tied day after day by the cranky elements. Rain and cold weather have stopped the Chestnut Hill crowd at every turn of the road. Accordingly, the visiting Rams, who opened their season three weeks ago, will have a decisive edge on the locals.

Coach Maguire will start either the veteran Fred Leahy or the inexperienced Dick Ferriter on the mound. Fordham is expected to counter with fire-balling Gene Bowen, and a lineup liberally sprinkled with veteran talent.

The remainder of the Eagle lineup will be practically the same as was due to open against Northeastern last week. The only possible change will see Sophomore Bob "Bucky" Harris of Watertown replacing Jack Callahan of Dorchester at third base.

75,000 to See Minors Open 57th Season

Now if only the weather man will be as cooperative as mayors Frank Hague of Jersey City and Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore, the International League will open its 57th baseball season today on all fronts, before an expected attendance of 75,000.

Their honors have declared half-holidays in their respective cities, but the weather man must "play ball, too.

Officials expect 45,000 or more at the Jersey City opener against Montreal in answer to Hague's proclamation urging citizens "to assist in setting a record attendance." Last year Jersey City established a new minor league mark of 45,112.

Mayor Jackson issued a similar proclamation in Baltimore, where the Orioles open against Buffalo, but if the expected 9000 fans do turn out he will have to give an assist to Governor Herbert R. O'Connor, who instructed department heads to give time off to state employes.

Two New Clubs In Park League

Two new clubs, the Crosby Club of Roxbury, and the Artesani Association of Brighton were voted in to fill the two vacant places in the Boston Park League for the 1940 campaign, League President Bill Mullen announced yesterday.

The Artesanis fill the Brighton franchise vacated by the Murphy Club this year, while the Crosby Club was brought up to the top league via the Park promotional system.

Ready to start the race on May 13 will be the 1939 champion Dick Casey Club, which will operate from Dorchester Town Field.

4th Title, Authorship Armstrong's Ambitions

Homicide Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion of the world, has two ambitions which are, from left to right, (1) to win a fourth title, the middleweight crown, and (2) to retire and write a book for which he already has the title "When the Crowd Stops Roaring."

Armstrong, also known as Hammering Henry and the Black Blitzkrieg and the Sepia Superman and the Perpetual Motion Machine, is dead in earnest about the writing business, bubbling over with literary ambitions.

But first he wants to annex the world's middleweight championship and thus write another record into the fistic history books.

Out on the coast recently Armstrong fought Ceferino Garcia for the 160-pound monarchy. He spotted Garcia 12 pounds and they were saying that the Black Blitzkrieg was getting too ambitious; furthermore that he would get himself knocked out by Garcia's blistering bolo punch.

The result was a furious draw. Armstrong missing out on a fourth championship by a fraction.

There have been many literary leather-tossers. Jim Corbett authored "Roar of the Crowd" and Gene Tunney turned out a sparkling manuscript "A Man Must Fight." Fidel LaBarba collaborated o "Susannah of the Mounties," recently a Shirley Temple vehicle. Kid McCoy is writing "Ten Lives in one" and there hav been others. Fighters-writers include Charles "Socker" Coe and Jim Tully, who could handle their mitts, and Jeffery Farnol, who had some fame as an amateur boxer, who authored the "Amateur Gentleman."

If he hits a type-writer as well as the opposition, Armstrong should become the greatest fighter-writer of them all. Boston gets its first peek at the amazing Armstrong in a title 15-rounder against Paul Junior at the Boston Garden, Friday night, April 26.

BIG FIVE—Three former winners and two of tomorrow's favorites are pictured above. If form runs true they'll finish 1-2-3-4-5 in tomorrow's Patriots' Day grind, Brown first, Pawson second.

SWEETHEART—Ted "The Kid" Williams, who got two base hits in opening game in Capital. He'll be in there swinging tomorrow when Sox face A's at Fenway Park.

STARTER—Emerson Dickman, young Red Sox "fireman." He finished 45 games for Sox last year. Now he's qualified as a starter. Casey Stengel calls him "best of the Sox pitchers."

$75,000 BEAUTY—Dominic DiMaggio, lone stranger in Red Sox lineup. Sox paid plenty of dough for younger brother of Joe, but he looks as if he'll be worth it.

193 Listed to Run In 44th Annual B. A. A. Marathon

The entry list for the 44th Annual B. A. A. American Marathon, which will be run over the Hopkinton to Boston course, starting at 12 o'clock noon tomorrow, Patriots' Day, has been closed with a grand total of 193 entries on file.

C. Desmond Wadsworth, chairman of the B. A. A. athletic committee and marshal of the race, has completed all arrangements for the policing of the course from start to finish.

Chairman Wadsworth once more asks all motorists driving on the course during the progress of the Marathon to please keep to the side of the road in a parking position, so that the runners will have the full width of the thoroughfare to do their best in the gruelling test.

During the past few years, autoists have helped in a great way by acting in this manner and their co-operation is again asked by the B. A. A. authorities, who want to do everything possible to help the contestants.

LEAVES SOUTH STATION

All runners, not going direct to the dressing quarters at Lucky Rock Manor, will take the 7:55 train from the South Station tomorrow morning from Framingham, and from that point will be taken by buses to the dressing quarters.

Clerk of Course and Starter Walter A. Brown and Director Kanaly will be in charge of the runners going out on the train, and all competitors planning on making this train are urged to be at the South Station not later than 7:45 a. m.

The clerks and physicians will be ready to start the weighing and examining by 10 a. m. at Lucky Rock Manor, and all runners are requested to report early so that there will be no delay in getting to the starting line promptly at 11:40 a. m.

5 FORMER WINNERS RUN

The race, as always, will start promptly on the first stroke of 12.

Five former winners are entered for this year's classic—Clarence H. DeMar, winner in 1911, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1927, 1928 and 1937; Bill Kennedy, winner in 1917; Leslie Pawson, winner in 1923 and 1938; Johnny Kelley, winner in 1935, and Ellison "Tarzan" Brown, winner in 1936 and 1939, and holder of course record, 2h. 28m. 51 4-5s.

SOUTHPAW DIET FACES YANKEES

Until Joe DiMaggio gets back into the lineup for the New York Yankees the world champions are sure to see a more or less constant stream of southpaw pitching.

Connie Mack, who has to take chances with what material he has masquerading as pitchers, tried a righthander yesterday in the only game of the day in the major leagues, and the McCarthymen went right to work for a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

CONNIE KNOWS FORMULA

But Mr. Mack knows the formula as well as he knows every other rule of the thumb in baseball. He gambled with Lefty Lovill (Chubby) Dean and won the opener the day before and he has announced that young Herman Besse, a rookie southpaw from Memphis, will be thrown into the lion's den today.

Although the scheme doesn't always work, the American League managers have been feeding lefthanders to the Yankees for years. Typical of the result was Washington's record last year. The Senators won seven times from the Yanks and three of these victories were on southpaw pitching, the other four on the unique knuckleballing of Dutch Leonard. The rest of the staff didn't count.

5 LEFTIES IN LINEUP

With DiMaggio in sick bay, the Yankees have five lefthanded batters in the lineup, four of them coming to the plate in succession.

Besides DiMaggio, the only righthanded hitting outfielder on the Yankee squad is Jake Powell and he is in a hospital and may be lost for many weeks because of a brain concussion. DiMaggio hoped to get back into harness tomorrow when the Yanks make their first home stand against the Senators, but the Yankees themselves were skeptical and some thought he might be out for several more days until his twisted knee strengthens.

SLUGGERS STOPPED

There is no question that his power against both right and lefthanded pitching is sorely missed. In the opener which New York lost in 10 innings the Yanks collected only six hits, none of them more than a single, and yesterday they won with a somewhat skimpy seven. The only one of these good for more than one base was a homer by Charley Keller.

In fact the Yanks might have been edged out again in spite of Monte Pearson's four-hit pitching if Kelley hadn't expressed his authority. He walked to lead off the fourth inning and scored New York's first run, homered for the second and drove in the fourth with a single.

Unfavorable weather forced postponement of all the other games.

Nyma Club Holds 15th Annual Race

Although the Hopkinton-Boston Marathon will justly steal the entire road race spotlight tomorrow afternoon, there'll be a healthy turn-out for the 15th annual Norfolk Y. M. A. as one of the largest fields in history faces the Roxbury starting line.

The entry list, now boasting over 100 nominees, promises to be the largest in the history of the 3-mile novice run.

Entries hit top peak in 1929 when 134 faced the gun.

The N. Y. M. A. will find itself in a commanding position for the first time in the history of the run. In the 14 years no member of the club has ever won first prize but this year, in George Dakin, the association stands a fine chance of keeping top honors.

Dakin barely missed up on a medal in the Cathedral 10-miler last week and must be rated with the favorites.

AUSTEN LAKE SAYS:

puffing stogies and making faces at the crowd, have been ruled off the course by the A. A. U.

A few are elderly incorrigibles, like Peter Foley, the 86-year-old grandfather who starts almost up and finishes by the light of the moon. And others who possess no athletic graces except a restless itch to make their muscles go.

TRAILING TOMORROW'S PROCESSION, FAR to the rear, comes the Red Cross ambulancers with Dr. Walter Kendall and his lady aides, who hoist leg-weary runners aboard and bust ammonia bombs under their nostrils. For dozens of the Marathon addicts heel only a few exhibitional miles before turning tourists and watching the rest of the race over the tailboard.

But many others will plod behind the leaders, like disembodied spirits, seeing faces swim past and listening to the pound of their pulses. They are the gallut heroes of the mad parade who swallow their gas bubbles and stager in hours after the event is over. They are the symbols of middle class life in a race which is a thumbnail measure of all humanity. The few leaders reap the glory and the prizes. The inferior breeds become passengers for the rest of life's journey. But the great bely of undistinguished, but resolute plodders, keep churning on, holding their ribs below the heart and living on hope and imagination.

And long after the police escort has conducted the Pawsons, Kelleys, Browns and other leaders into Exeter st. and the howls and camera flashes are over, the unsung artisans will wobble home with nothing for their day but nervous palsey, bleeding heels and a platter of ice cream.

Managoff Whips Ernie Dusek

Bob Managoff, youthful Chicagoan, drop-kicked his way to victory over Ernie Dusek last night.

Managoff took the first and third falls with his favorite "hold," the first in 33 minutes 7 seconds and the third in 9 minutes 5 seconds, following up drop-kicks with body presses.

Dusek captured the middle fall in 13:24 with a body lift and slam.

Gus Sonnenberg and Marvin Westenberg went 30 minutes to a draw in the semi-final.

ROOM AND BOARD — By Eugene Ahern

I WENT OUT TO THE OIL PROPERTY I SOLD, EXPECTING TO FIND A DERRICK AND DRILLING CREW IN OPERATION, BUT THERE WAS NO SIGN OF ACTIVITY. ..... DRAT IT, — MY TRAILER TOUR DEPENDS ON THE 10¢ A BARREL ROYALTY THEY ARE TO PAY ME ! ..... WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE IS DELAYING THEM ?
MAYBE THEY FOUND OUT IT WAS ONLY "SURFACE OIL", ... WORKED UP TO THE TOP AND THAT'S ALL THERE IS !
SAY, ... ARE YOU GOING TO PULL A CAT FIGHT OUT OF THAT FIDDLE IN HERE ?
WONDER IF THE JUDGE WILL EVER FIND OUT ?

Banned From Fights Bob Pastor Charges

ALBANY, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—Bob Pastor, who went 21 rounds with Joe Louis, aimed a few verbal blows at the fight business and came up with the idea that you have to be a politician to get a bout nowadays.

"Boxing has hit a new low," Pastor told an Albany service club yesterday, "when a ranking fighter has to go out on a stump and make speeches like a politician to get himself a fight."

After he'd returned to his Saratoga Springs home, Bob amplified his statement.

Pastor, it seems, figures he's a ranking fighter, as good as any heavyweight around save, maybe, Champion Joe. Didn't he go 10 rounds with Louis before the latter had won his title? And didn't he clip the champ a few good ones before going down in the eleventh round of their championship fight last September?

WANTS LOUIS FIGHT

"Yes, and I'll clip him a few good ones again, if they ever let me in the ring with him," he said, confidently. "I still think I can lick that Louis. I've fought him twice in two years and beaten every good heavyweight around, but I still can't get a fight."

Pastor might have something there. Since his last Louis battle he's fought just once, winning a 10-round decision over Buddy Scott in Dallas, Tex., last December. Twice he claims to have been set to go, but each time something happened.

"Lee Savold was supposed to fight me," he explained, "but he went out and got himself licked by one of my former sparring mates, Johnny Withers. Then I was set to meet Billy Conn, but he got a case of boils and I was put off again."

SAYS CONN OVERRATED

Conn, Bob thinks, is a vastly overrated fighter and one he'd like to catch in the ring this June. That's objective number one. After that — and Pastor is certain he'll knock out Conn—he wants Louis in September.

"What I really want," he added, "is another shot at Louis and that title and I'm certain Pop (Jimmie Johnston, Pastor's manager) will get it for me.

"But if I have to stump the country like a politician to get fights, okay, then I'll do it."

'UPSIDE DOWN' GIRL, 15, WEDS

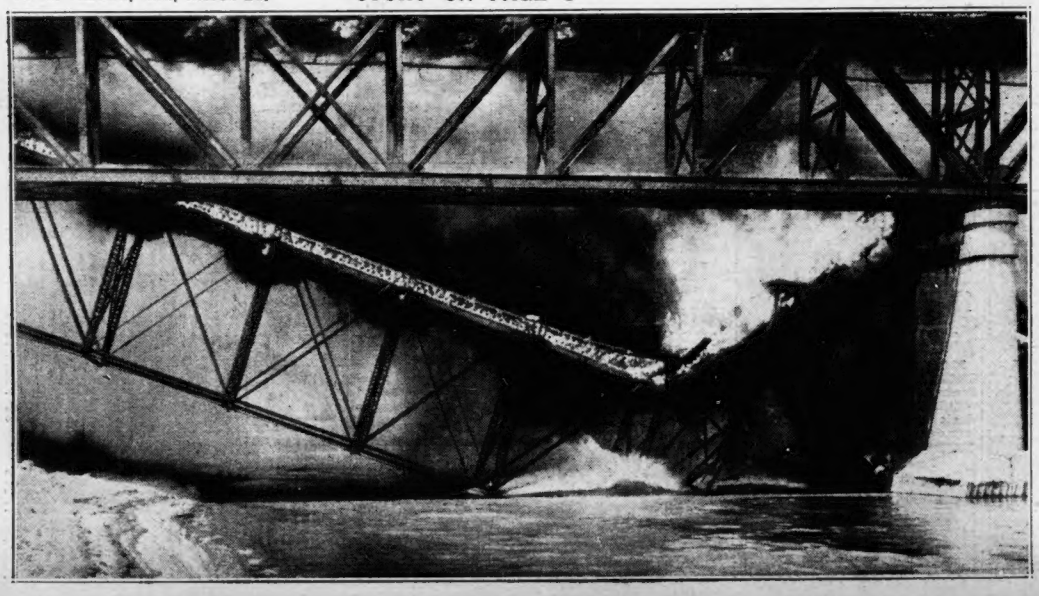
Bridal Revealed—Much publicized when she was a patient at a Fall River hospital for "upside-down" stomach operation, Alyce Jane McHenry, 15, today was revealed as the secret bride of William K. Byle, 23, after elopement to St. Charles, Mo., March 22. STORY ON PAGE 3



Reunion—Back in his mother's arms is Joe Richiel, 4 . . . lost from his South Boston home for 24 hours. His father, Alexander, and mother, Mary, tramped the streets all night looking for him . . . but came the dawn . . . and reunion.

Collapse

In remarkable photo blazing section of bridge over the Kaw river in Kansas City collapses, as fire ravages two 500-foot sections of the structure, causing damage of $50,000.
